Heavy Damage In Resort Towns

NAPLES (UP)—Disastrous flash floods boiled down from Italy's coastal mountains today on the famed tourist towns of Amalfi, Sorrento, Ravello and nearby villages, crumbling buildings, causing landslides and leaving a heavy toll of death and damage.

Tonight federal police headquarters here listed a total of 204 known dead and feared the total would rise still further as bulldozers reopened mud-choked roads to isolated villages. Incomplete reports listed more than 100 injured and upward of 500 homeless.

LINES CUT
Authorities said they feared the toll would rise when rescue workers are able to send in official figures by radio from the stricken area, now cut off from normal communication with the outside.

Landslides added to the toll of death and damage.

The floods, started by a cloudburst during the night, collapsed houses, washed out roads and bridges, and inundated the narrow strip of flat coastline where Gen. Mark W. Clark's American troops stormed ashore in the Second World War.

57 DEAD

Report brought here by refugees said up to 57 persons were dead in Salerno alone. The centre of the city and the entire beach area were reported under water.

Premier Mario Scelba ordered immediate emergency aid to the area. Naples firemen went to the scene to help with rescue operations.

Army units equipped with bulldozers were attempting to clear the blocked roads that cling to the seaside cliffs. Navy units put rescue crews and equipment ashore at points isolated from contact by land.

Missing C-47 Seen in Alps

NICE, France (UP)—United States air force officials conducting a search for a C-47 missing since Sunday with 21 airmen aboard today ordered paratroopers dropped on a mountain where wreckage has been spotted.

Six paratroopers were scheduled to descend on Mount L'Audon, 40 miles north of Nice, after a rescue plane radioed it spotted the wreckage high on the slopes of the Alpine peak.

About 21 American aircraft roamed above the snow-capped Alps along with French navy and air force planes in a "maximum effort" search for the C-47, missing on a flight from Italy to England.

There were constant reports of wreckage sightings in France's "aircraft graveyard" which confused and hampered the search.

Rail Hearings Open Before Justice Sloan

MONTREAL (CP)—Arbitration proceedings in the lengthy contract dispute between Canada's railways and their 145,000 non-operating employees opened here today under chairmanship of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia.

Chief Justice Sloan was named by the federal government to arbitrate the dispute after the workers—those who do not actually run trains—authorized their 14 unions to call a strike if their demands for fringe benefits were not met.

The railways and the union agreed Aug. 18 to submit their differences to arbitration. The arbitrator's findings will be binding.

The workers are asking for

Murder Confession Told by Brother

WILLISTON BACKS 'FRILLS'

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—So-called "frills" in education have the support of Education Minister Ray Williston.

He defended the frills, such as library classes and music, as aids for leisure hours in future years.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frills in Vancouver schools must be eliminated if the budget line is going to be held, Ald. Syd Bowman said Monday night at a ratepayers' meeting.

James L. Huscroft of Lister, a logger and farmer, was one of five crown witnesses who testified Monday at the assize court trial of Fred Huscroft, 48, charged with murder in the deaths of his wife, Agnes, 42, and his five-year-old adopted daughter, Joanne.

The bodies of the accused's wife and daughter were found on their beds May 25 with head wounds and stockings tied around their necks.

James Huscroft said his brother had been in an "excited" state the days before the deaths of his wife and daughter. "I thought he might have been going to commit suicide," the witness said.

The trial is continuing.

Canoeist Hopes to Reach Alaska In Outboard Powered Washtub

EDMONDS, Wash. (UP)—Fifty-year-old Roy Bergo sets sail for Alaska today in an oval-shaped washtub powered by an outboard motor.

Bergo, who had to lose 34 pounds so his own weight wouldn't sink the galvanized tub, said he hopes to make the 1,200-mile voyage across the northern Pacific in 21 days.

The tub, made of galvanized iron, was designed for use as a baby's bathtub. It is 18 inches wide, 11 inches deep and 36 inches long. His outboard motor is rated at two horsepower.

Bergo is five feet eight and a half inches tall and now weighs 144 pounds.

Bergo said he was undertaking the voyage for "scientific reasons" and to promote interest in the International Canoe Racing Association which he founded.

He intends to sail first to Port Angeles, about 65 miles north of here on Puget Sound, then cross the Strait of Juan de Fuca to Victoria, B.C. His next stop will be Vancouver, B.C., and then will take the inland water route to Alaska.

IF YOU CAN'T COUNT UP TO FIVE—DROP DEAD

CINCINNATI (AP)—Here's an A-bomb or H-bomb survival tip:

If you see or sense a sudden brilliant or blinding flash of light—duck and count slowly to five.

If you reach five, you have survived. Then take stock. If you have the customary number of fingers, legs and other body parts, if you can hear, and aren't bleeding badly anywhere or bleeding from the nose or ears, you probably have nothing to worry about.

It will mean you haven't been hit at all, or significantly, by the three killers in thermonuclear weapons. The three are radiation, heat or fire, and the blast wave.

Counting off the five seconds will mean you were at least a mile from the heart of the atomic bomb. It takes five seconds for the sound or blast waves to travel a mile. And at a mile distance, you probably won't get any significant amount of radiation.

This rough formula was given today by Col. Harvey C. Slocum at the annual meeting of the American Society of Anaesthesiologists.

Big B.C. Jobs Ask Go-Ahead

Celgar Submits Working Plans; Frobisher Applies for License

By TOM GOULD
Times Legislative Reporter

Two legal steps were taken in the last 24 hours to further the progress of multi-million dollar industrial developments in British Columbia.

Celgar Development Ltd. beat its October 27 deadline in filing working plans for a $65,000,000 forest development at Castlegar, on Arrow Lakes.

The company presented its plan to Lands Minister R. E. Sommers on Monday. Two officials of the firm still are in Victoria. Celgar got approval for a huge forest management license in October, 1952, but final award had been held up pending submission of the working plans.

TIME NEEDED

Mr. Sommers said the government would require "a month or two" to assess the plan and arrive at a decision.

The West Kootenay CCF organization has asked the government to delay confirmation of Celgar's forest management license until construction of a pulp mill is assured. Details of the working plans are not available.

Meanwhile, another step toward establishment of a giant hydro-electric-metallurgical development in northern B.C. by the Frobisher-Ventures group of companies was taken at Atlin.

The Atlin water recorder said Frobisher filed application for all water rights involved in the proposal.

Drapeau Wins In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Reform candidate Jean Drapeau, swept into office to succeed Montreal's retired Mayor Camille Houde, said today that one of his first acts would be to ask suspension of police chief Albert Langlois.

Drapeau was only 684 votes short of a majority over all the other eight candidates, who lost their $300 deposits. Total vote was 153,060, more than a 50 per cent turnout. (See story Page 2.)

WRECKING CREW ERROR RAZES BRITISH CHURCH

LONDON (AP)—A high British churchman told Monday how a wrecking crew pulled down a historic London church through error.

"It's all a ghastly mistake," said Archdeacon M. M. Hodgins.

Ninety-five-year-old St. Paul's church in St. John's Wood was damaged during an air raid. Plans were afoot to repair it when a gang of workers appeared in the neighborhood.

The archdeacon said they had been sent to demolish a building on the same street as the church, but somehow they started in on the wrong structure.

600 London Dockers Quit Crippling Strike

Union Leaders Hurry to Exploit Break In Wildcat Dock Worker Tie-Up

LONDON (CP)—Union leaders trying to herd thousands of wild-cat strikers back to work at eight paralyzed British ports today claimed their first significant success.

They announced that 600 men at a London dock voted to return to work Wednesday—first time any dockmen outside the permanent workers had shown any signs of returning. Meantime, some of the permanent stevedores began unloading seven Christmas food ships bearing cargoes of wine, figs, sardines and nuts.

DUE WEDNESDAY

At the same time, Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton told the House of Commons that a three-man court of inquiry he appointed to investigate the dispute had submitted an interim report which he hoped to make available late on Wednesday.

Arthur Deakin, head of the giant Transport and General Workers Union, moved quickly to exploit the first crack in the strike front. He sent squads of union officers hurrying to dock gates to urge the men to "go back to work and get on with the job."

Transport union officials have branded the strike unofficial and charged Communist elements with egging the men on. The stevedores' union officially supported the walkout.

MAY PAY OFF

Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet has refrained thus far from sending in troops to unload ships in the hope that the strike will collapse soon.

There were these signs that the government's gamble might be paying off:

1. Half of the 2,000 "permanent" dockers in London who are paid on a weekly instead of a daily basis went back to work. More than 25,000 men remained in London, however.

2. At Liverpool 84 men went back to the docks this morning continuing a slow return that began Monday. About 12,000 men are still out at Liverpool.

3. Colder weather and a shortage of pocket money were making strikers restless at the various ports.

Some Midland industrial plants began laying off workers and putting others on short time because they were unable to get their products shipped.

Chief issue in the work stoppage is a demand by the dockers to put overtime work on a voluntary basis. Employers maintain that the dependence of operations on tides makes it necessary that overtime be compulsory.

France, Germany Agree On Trade Co-Operation

PARIS (Reuters)—France and West Germany have agreed on the principle of large-scale economic co-operation and long-term trade agreements between the two countries, it was announced here today.

Trade negotiations between the two countries will open next month.

Over Counter Liquor Sales Wednesday

The Humboldt Street liquor store will have across-the-counter service starting Wednesday, it was learned today.

It will be the first such service in Victoria, though Vancouver has had counter sales for several months.

It was part of the LCB "speed-up" policy a board spokesman said.

It is believed that if the new policy is found to work effectively at the Humboldt Street store, it may be started in Victoria's other two LCB outlets on Johnson Street and in Esquimalt.

Big Four Talks Vetoed By Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today rejected a Russian proposal for Big Four talks next month on German unification.

He told the House of Commons this was not the moment to enter into such talks with the Russians while Western parliaments still have to ratify the London and Paris agreements calling for a rearmament and sovereign West Germany.

He made the statement in answer to questioning by left-wing Labor member Aneurin Bevan.

JUST for the RECORD

DOUBLE BIRDIE — At Buffalo, N.Y., Art Pasmick had better luck with a golf club Monday than some hunters with shotguns on the opening day of the pheasant season. Pasmick's drive on the 160-yard, 13th hole of the Lancaster Country Club golf course struck and killed a pheasant, giving him a double birdie as he putted out in two on the par-three hole.

NINE YEARS LATER

Hiroshima Girl's Death Attributed to Radiation

HIROSHIMA (AP) — Kyodo news service said today a nine-year-old girl died here Oct. 24 of what it called the after-effects of the wartime atom-bombing of this city more than nine years ago.

The news agency said she was the 13th person to die in Hiroshima this year of "atomic disease."

She was seven months old in August, 1945 when the bomb was dropped, Kyodo said. She was about 1½ miles from the centre of the blast.

Kyodo said the girl, Norie Iwamoto, suffered no apparent effects at the time and grew up normally until last February, when she began to complain of dizziness and became listless.

2 Victorians Retain Hopes for Sweep Win

Three of the five Victoria people who had tickets drawn in the Irish Sweepstakes had their dreams of the $140,000 grand prize shattered Monday night when their horses were eliminated from the Cambridge-shire Handicap to be run Wednesday at Newmarket.

The two whose horses are still in the lineup are Clifford Rutledge, 845 Old Esquimalt Road, and Victor Glover, a merchant seaman now somewhere off the eastern coast of the United States.

Mr. Rutledge, a department store executive, has a ticket on Tiger Kloof, presently quoted at odds of 40-to-1. Mr. Glover's

NEW YORK (UP) — E. McKnight Kauffer, poster designer and illustrator of books, died here, 23 days after his obituary was printed by mistake in The Times of London.

Kauffer, a native of Great Falls, Mont., illustrated editions of Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," Cervantes' "Don Quixote," Carl Van Vechten's "Nigger Heaven" and works by Herman Melville, Arnold Bennett, T. S. Eliot and Lord Birkhead.

The Times of London reported in its Sept. 29 edition that Kauffer had died in New York "recently."

Drapeau Will Oust Langlois

New Montreal Mayor's First Act Will Be to Suspend Police Chief

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Drapeau, elected Monday as mayor of Montreal, said in a victory speech that one of his first moves will be to suspend police director J. Albert Langlois.

Langlois was one of 20 members and former members of the police department convicted recently in a vice inquiry judgment of tolerating commercialized vice in Montreal between 1941 and 1950.

Mr. Justice Francois Caron who conducted the inquiry ordered that Langlois be dismissed, banned from municipal office for one year and fined $500 of the cost of the inquiry. Langlois immediately appealed the conviction and claimed the right to hold his post pending action on the appeal.

Drapeau was one of the leading counsel in the inquiry that led to Langlois' conviction. "He has proven that he is not worthy to remain in office," said the new mayor. "I called him three times this afternoon for police protection and I didn't even get to speak to him."

The request for protection came after the Drapeau committee rooms were smashed in a series of violent raids by nomad gangs, armed with sticks and baseball bats.

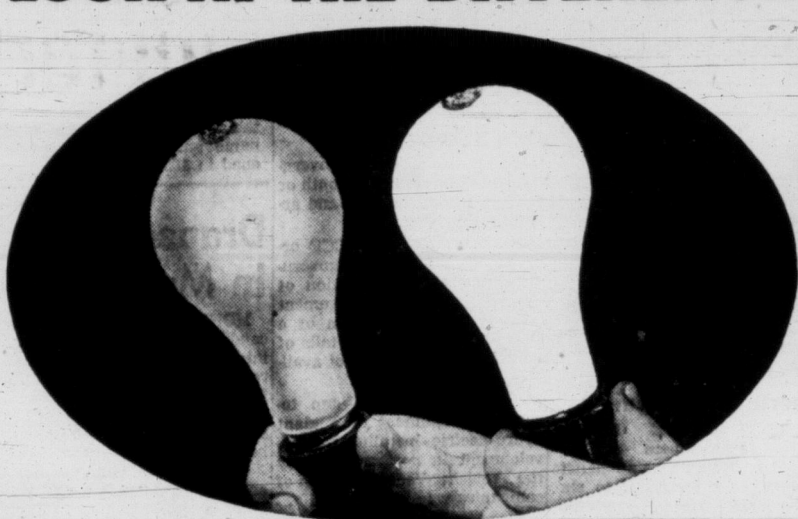

"The next call Mr. Langlois gets from me will be to tell him of his suspension," Drapeau told a crowd of well-wishers, organizers and newspaper men in his downtown law offices.

LONDON (Reuters) — A tug towing the 29,734-ton liner Arcadia capsized and sank in the River Thames early today.

Three men, two deckhands and a fireman, were picked up soon after the accident but the other six members of the tug's crew, including the captain, were reported missing.

The accident occurred as the Peninsular and Orient liner being towed out of her berth got under way on its own power. The tug Cervia apparently was unable to release its tow rope and was pulled over sideways until water rushed into her engine room.

FERNWOOD-HAULTAIN STOREMEN TREAT TOTS

No Window-Soaping for These Merchants

Marked reduction in the amount of Halloween vandalism that has occurred in their district since the Bay Street playground committee began staging Halloween bonfires has encouraged merchants in the Fernwood-Haultain area to assist the venture.

Mrs. Norman R. Harlan, organizer of this year's bonfire, announced today that eight merchants in the district had undertaken to provide all the "treats" necessary for staging a successful bonfire party Saturday night.

Earlier it was feared that because of waning support from parents, this year's party would have to be either curtailed or cancelled.

FIRE GUTS BROCK HALL AT UBC; HEAVY DAMAGE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Brock Hall, $400,000 building on the University of British Columbia campus here, was swept by fire Monday night. President Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie said damage would be heavy.

He said the building was valued at $350,000 and the equipment inside at $50,000.

Four firemen dropped their hoses and successfully fled the hall's roof as fire-weakened beams collapsed beneath their feet. The blaze, cause of which was not known, started in a second floor committee room. One fireman was treated after being overcome by smoke. The hall was used by student organizations for meetings and dances.

Tri-City 'Copter Run Endorsed by Seattle

Transportation Chiefs Back Service Linking Washington City With Victoria, Vancouver

SEATTLE (Special)—Transportation officials here are today on record endorsing a helicopter shuttle service between Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver.

It would be on a trial basis at first, until proved economically sound.

Seattle now has three heliports: one an army strip at the port of embarkation, one atop the Public Safety Building and another at King-TV.

The military heliport is used to speed mail distribution between here and other Olympic Peninsula military establishments.

On the strictly commercial aspect of helicopter link between the mainland and Victoria, it is known that a prominent Seattle businessman with broad aviation experience is backing a present project. He prefers to remain unnamed for the moment. His plans call for a tri-link shuttle service via helicopter.

Victoria City Manager Cecil Wyatt is now compiling a study of sites which could be reserved for heliports.

He has said that the triangle service appeared exceptionally well suited for development of helicopter travel. TCA, which is continuing a survey of the Victoria-Vancouver run, states that its first use of airline helicopters in Canada will be in this area.

CLOSE TO CITIES

Officials here and in the two Canadian cities believe there is little advantage to heliports too far removed from cities themselves. No passenger advantage

The convention is to exchange ideas for mutual benefit.

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Salvatore (Lucky) Luciano, one-time New York vice kingpin, was ordered today to appear before a Naples police commission to reply to questions upon his activities.

INDIA SUGGESTS TRUCE

Canadian Arms Plan Nears UN Decision

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The long United Nations arms debate neared a close today with a call by India for a halt on weapons production until a world-wide disarmament pact can be reached.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon, last speaker listed in the debate, sought the floor in the 60-nation political committee to present his appeal for a standstill agreement.

The Indian resolution called on the UN disarmament commission to study ways of setting up an "armament truce" pending agreement on a disarmament convention.

The resolution circulated among delegates Monday night also called on the General Assembly to recess in December, instead of adjourning, so it could reconvene quickly if the disarmament commission issued a report requiring immediate action.

SEEK QUICK VOTE

After Menon's speech, the committee is expected to press for a quick vote on a Canadian resolution to set up secret five-power disarmament talks again.

The resolution, co-sponsored by Russia, France, Britain and the United States, appeared certain to win approval.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky held the floor for two hours and 40 minutes Monday while he blasted the London and Paris agreements on West German rearmament and challenged the Western powers to match Soviet efforts toward disarmament agreement.

In his longest speech on the arms question this year, Vishinsky told the Western powers "you can't have new pacts which make for aggression while you are supposedly seeking disarmament in the UN."

Dwellings Improved To Meet New Laws

BRENTWOOD—With two exceptions all dwellings condemned here for lack of proper sanitary facilities have been reconditioned to comply with the health by-laws of Central Saanich Municipality, according to Philip Lomas, building inspector.

The two exceptions, he says, are being checked by the inspection service and will have to comply with the municipal regulations being enforced since the water supply became available in the district.

SNEAK SUB'S A-BOMBS FEARED BY CD CHIEF

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Canada's third largest city is liable to bombardment by atomic missiles launched without warning from submarines lying off the west coast of Vancouver Island, Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes said Monday night.

Speaking at the first meeting in two years of the Greater Vancouver target area control committee, Heakes said the suddenness of such a bombardment would not allow for evacuation of Vancouver area.

"Single or multiple (air launched) atomic bombs are the principal threat to Vancouver," he said, adding that the hydrogen bomb would probably not be used against the Vancouver target area for at least two years.

"Evacuation is the principal protection against both hydrogen and atomic bombs," Heakes said.

Ike May Be Pressed Into Final Swing

Republicans Acknowledge Democratic Trends; President Believed Considering Flying Trip

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (UP)—President Eisenhower was reported today to be considering a widespread windup campaign swing this week-end to try to sew up the election of a Republican congress next Tuesday.

Although the White House said the plan has not been presented to the chief executive for a decision, reports that appeared to be well founded, said Mr. Eisenhower, would make political appearances from Boston to Minneapolis and south to Louisville, Ky., on a flying trip Friday and Saturday.

It was known that such a trip was being discussed and tentatively planned by the President's advisers.

Republicans have acknowledged a democratic trend in some areas and various polls reflect such a condition. The poll consensus seems to be that the Democrats are likely to win control of both the House and Senate.

The division in the 83rd congress as it stands: Senate: Republicans 218, Democrats 212, Independent 1. Vacant 4.

Independent Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon did not vote against Republican organization of the Senate in January, 1953, but he has announced that he will vote next January with the

No Defense Witnesses In Bell Trial

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—The crown today rested its case in the trial of Mrs. Mary Bell, 48, on a charge of murder in the poison death of her 57-year-old husband, Percy, Jan. 2.

Ronald Cass, defense counsel thereupon announced that the defense will call no witnesses.

Since the start of the trial 11 days ago, the crown called 79 witnesses, including pathologists, a druggist and friends and relatives of the Bells.

SAW NO RATS

Final witnesses called by the crown included Insp. Frank Kelly of the provincial police and Insp. Clare Hayes of the Belleville city police. Both said they visited the Bell home and saw no sign of rats.

A Belleville druggist testified last week that Mrs. Bell bought poison from him and said she wanted it to kill rats.

A medico-legal expert who testified Monday suggested that the strychnine which doctors said had caused Bell's death could have been placed in a sleeping powder capsule.

Dr. Ward Smith of the provincial crime laboratory discussed sleeping pill capsules. He said such a capsule might easily be opened, the sleep-inducing powder removed and another substance put in.

FLOOD FUND GROWING; ARMY RESTS

TORONTO (BUP)—A weary band of 230 soldiers will pull out of "Operation Flood" today, many of them for their first rest in a month, while reinforcements continue the search for victims of Hurricane Hazel.

Civilian volunteers continued to help reserve soldiers search for 12 persons still missing from the Etobicoke area, and the army will return to the Humber Valley next week-end.

The Ontario hurricane relief fund neared the $2,500,000 mark of its $10,000,000 goal Monday.

A Cowardly Attack

THE PEOPLE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA probably are conditioned to the mixture of financial and religious dogma filling the speeches of Social Credit politicians who may or may not believe in it. But it is an entirely different matter when a party convention solemnly resolves to indict the civil service for being "wilfully inefficient" and for deliberately sabotaging the policies of the Bennett Government.

In the first place, of course, this is hitting below the belt at men and women who are powerless to defend themselves effectively. In the second, no shadow of proof is adduced to support such a wild charge. If the civil service is sabotaging the Government's policies and inefficiently enforcing its orders, how comes it that the Government is never tired of boasting that its policies are bringing a new dawn of prosperity and its administration a new era of efficiency to British Columbia?

Mr. Bennett and his cabinet, in daily touch with their servants, must know that the convention's charge is baseless, ridiculous and cowardly. If that were not so the Government would be derelict in its duty if it had not long ago reorganized and reformed the civil service. Rightly, it has seen no need to do so. But wrongly it has failed to defend its loyal servants against the unfounded and purely partisan attacks of a political convention. By its silence the Government gives consent to this outrageous slander.

Many British Columbians will suspect that there was more to the convention resolution than slander. The condemnation of leading civil servants because most of them were appointed by former governments suggests that the local politicians of Social Credit are eager for these positions and that the present Government has not been sufficiently lush in handing out such appointments.

It is to be hoped that if the Government lacked the courage to quarrel with a convention in public it will treat the civil service justly in private. Whether it has done so in the past the people at large have no way of knowing. From the statements of the civil servants' organization and the agenda of their forthcoming conference, it is evident, however, that they are far from satisfied with their treatment.

The public of British Columbia realizes, as the Social Credit Party does not, that good government under our British system depends at least as much upon permanent officials as upon elected legislators and cabinet ministers. A non-partisan civil service, obeying governments and outlasting them, is one of the essential cornerstones of our system. Those who would undermine it would undermine good government.

Yet by an almost incredible contradiction the Social Credit convention resolves in one breath that the civil service is playing politics; and in the next that civil servants shall be permitted, indeed encouraged, to take part in active politics.

Both resolutions are wrong and dangerous. The first slanders the civil servants. The second proposes to destroy the whole basis of a public service entirely divorced from partisanship. But what the convention really meant by this paradox is clear enough—civil servants may play politics without restriction so long as they play Social Credit politics. If they are wise they will reject both the slander and the invitation.

From a New Position of Strength

AFTER YEARS OF FUMBLING and argument, western Europe has succeeded, within the space of a few decisive days, in resolving its defense problem and coming to agreement on the rearmament of West Germany.

The alarming failure of the original EDC plan, which would have created a joint west European army including German contributions, appears to have spurred the various member countries to quick agreement on an alternative. Two factors, apart from the underlying need for some form of defense against potential Soviet aggression, contributed to this success.

First was the history-making British decision to involve the island kingdom directly in continental affairs by undertaking to keep troops and an air force in Europe for the rest of this century. Second was the threat of the United States to withdraw its forces from Europe if the allied powers could not fashion an acceptable organization for co-operative security. The British carrot and the American stick produced the required action.

Even with the major considerations settled, there was doubt up to the last moment as to whether the new formula could be completed. France insisted that agreement to the defense program must await a decision on the future of the Saar—territory lying on the Franco-German border and claimed by both nations. With the solution of this problem on a compromise basis, the way lay open for approval of the new West European Union.

This Union, comprising Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, replaces the EDC group (which lacked Britain) as the basis for western European defense. As a member of the Union, West Germany receives full sovereignty, the present occupation troops of the Second World War allies becoming "guests" of the Bonn republic. The former enemy country also becomes a member of NATO, under whose supervision it will provide 12 divisions of troops to the common defense effort.

Let's Watch the Discard

THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company may switch its plans to establish a multi-million dollar fertilizer plant in Calgary and build it at Columbia City, Oregon, instead, is raised in a recent issue of the Financial Post. Back of the threatened change, says the Post, is the fact that plans for several fertilizer plants have recently been announced by United States firms, to serve the American midwest and Pacific Northwest markets.

Canadian fertilizers up to now have been allowed into the U.S. free of duty, but it is feared that with the advent of American supplies there will be agitation for tariff protection against the Canadian product. This would bar or hamper Consolidated exports to the U.S., and the company may therefore be expected to try to retain a share of that market by locating its plant where U.S. tariffs cannot affect it.

It is to be hoped that dangers of this sort will be avoided through the success of President Eisenhower's liberalized trade policy in the next Congress. But of course there is no assurance on that score and much will depend on the candidates elected next month. While such great questions are pending, assuredly Canada should not give away any of the cards in its hands—the waters of the Arrow Lakes, for example, which under the plans of the B.C. Government will be used to fuel American industries, possibly the Consolidated's proposed fertilizer plant in Oregon.

Poor Old Mithras

THE people of England—the incredible, deadpan, practical, sentimental and wildly romantic English—have lately embarked on another of their magnificent obsessions. We should observe it here with a sense of humiliation. In excavating through the ancient floor of London, to construct a new office building, the builders discovered a buried Roman temple of the god Mithras, together with the handsome head of the god himself in carved stone. Now this, to be sure, was a notable discovery, especially interesting in our time.

Mithras, as the erudite readers of this department all know, was not a native Roman god. He was an immigrant from Persia and entered Rome with some captured pirates from Asia Minor a century or two before the birth of Christ. The Romans took instantly to the stranger because their own gods had fallen completely into discredit and the Empire was living in a spiritual vacuum, ultimately fatal to it.

THE religion of Mithras thus became one of many eastern "mysteries" to which the Romans flocked in their search for something they could worship. To them Christianity, when it first appeared out of the east, was just another "mystery," hardly worth the consideration of serious statesmen, who believed in nothing particularly, except power and pleasure. But Christianity quickly filled the vacuum and took possession of Europe entire.

The western world lives in just such a spiritual vacuum today. Poor old Mithras—of course, cannot hope to find any new followers when he is dug up in London, but obviously the climate is ripe for a revival of Christianity.

I LEAVE that to the clergy and theologians. The point which interests the layman is that the people of England refused to allow the architects to build on top of the Roman temple. Somehow, they said, this relic must be saved, not for religious but for purely secular reasons—because, in short, Mithras and the Roman invasion are an essential part of the fabric of English life.

It was impossible, or at least too costly, to leave the temple intact underneath the new office building and for a time it appeared that the old ruins must be buried again. This prospect caused such a storm of protest, the Churchill Government was so embarrassed and the country so angry that a typically English compromise was arranged. The Roman temple, stone by stone, is to be moved to a new site and rebuilt for public observation.

THIS, I say, should cause us some humiliation because it is the last thing we Canadians would ever think of doing. We are ignorant and careless of our past in Canada, and rather proud, with a foolish, juvenile pride, of our concern only with the present and future.

For example, I journeyed recently over most of the length of the Fraser River, the scene of perhaps the most heroic adventure in the history of North American exploration. Yet there was nothing from the mouth of the river to its source to mark the unbelievable voyage of Simon Fraser.

Had this epic occurred in England there would be at least a statue of Fraser somewhere on the river's bank and some monument to mark the spot, where he and his handful of companions crawled on hands and knees around the boiling cauldron of Hell's Gate. Instead, we have marked that place with a concrete fishway, which assuredly saves the salmon run but tells us nothing of our past.

NO temple marks the place where Mackenzie arrived on the Pacific near Bella Coola, the first white man to walk across the continent. Thompson, who discovered the upper Columbia after years of baffling search, is almost forgotten.

We have an obscure shaft of stone near our Parliament Buildings in Victoria to commemorate James Douglas but how many Victorians realize today that this man, almost single-handed, saved the Pacific coast for Canada when, by all the calculations of geography and power it was destined to fall into American hands? The greatest of all Victorians is less known than some contemporary alderman.

A HUNDRED other examples of the same sort could be mentioned, all showing our Canadian notion that the past doesn't matter. The English know better. They know that a society, though it must live in the present and plan for the future, must also live, if it is to live at all, on the accumulated treasure of the past.

It is certain, I think, that in the supreme crisis of 1940 England lived mainly on that treasure and would have perished without it; for in those days the present was barren and the future apparently hopeless. But the mighty past supported a nation which simply did not know how to die and Hitler, seeing only the Royal Air Force in the sky, actually was confronting the invisible, dauntless ghosts of English history all the way back to Roman times. The Canadian nation will never be the nation it should be until it rediscovers these things and thus discovers itself.

Cats as Cats Can

The Times (London)

GENIUS is not a word for light use, but it should be used liberally (or any other adverb of emphasis at which the pedants raise their eyebrows, and reach for their reproachful fountain pen) to describe the lady who has thought of cat-sitting and is making a good thing out of it.

Any fool can sit in the garden in these autumn days and get a bump from a windfall. The dumbest little blonde school child can make a nuisance of it, and a time it appeared that the old ruins must be buried again. This prospect caused such a storm of protest, the Churchill Government was so embarrassed and the country so angry that a typically English compromise was arranged. The Roman temple, stone by

She has seen it steadily and she has seen it whole. Loneliness, she has noted, is not much of a problem with most cats. But most cats are a problem to their family (human) when it goes away from home. Then she steps in. Her first advertised offer to do so provoked a response instant and overwhelming—and no wonder. She brought in more business than she could handle.

That she knew what she was tackling is shown by her refusal to entertain the cats chez elle. Dogs she will act as hostess to, and monkeys (is that wise of her?), and a bird which repays her hospitality in the course of a long quiet evening by asking is she "going out with the boys?" An armadillo (which should not be any trouble) is expected. But with cats her technique is firm.

Mahomet goes to the mountain—the mountain of fur stays at its own home and enjoys the ministrations of what used to be called a district visitor, who feeds, brushes and converses with it. Still, one side of the picture is missing. So far, none of the lucky cats has spoken.

Two of them, however, have put in a somewhat cryptic appearance out of the bag. The first is a Siamese; and who—having had to deal with one of those aristocratic individualists masquerading as cats—will be surprised to hear that it arched its back like a puff ball? But, as nothing is said about its having refused its dinner, the gesture may have been one merely of routine disdain for strangers.

The other case is that of a cat, of unspecified sex and markings, named "Zebeard," who was dragged by its servant off the upholstered seat that it was in process of eviscerating. "I believe," she remarked as she committed this impertinence, "the name Zebeard means absolutely nothing."

That client will certainly be lost, but there are many more where he or she came from. To have invented cat-sitting is to have met a long-felt want. Blunders, here and there, apart, genius is on a winner. The lady is not for scratching.

T. S. Eliot and Ezra Pound are not great experimentalists, except in the sense that they once tried to acclimatize French poetic theory in English verse; just as Pope (for whom they have both expressed unbounded admiration) did in Queen Anne's reign. Modern poems are no longer written in modernist style; and in fact Pound-Eliot modernism of the twenties is already as dated as a streamlined pogostick with decorative motifs from Tutankhamen's tomb. The true masters of experiment in our day are such poets as Thomas Hardy, Robert Frost, and William Davies, whose work does not date, because each has adapted his individual speech-rhythm and diction and imagery to agreed verse-forms, and produced something startlingly new and undated. But they offer an example of professional integrity, not a series of working models. In Queen Anne's day, when this wealth was laid aside for just such times as these. When it was needed not, lo, it was yours to guard. But now it is not yours, for it belongs to those who are in want, and if you give it not you simply bring upon your heads the wrath of God. It is not charity, to give to those in need; it is but honesty. It is but giving men their own." Chapter 114, verses 1 to 3.

CAT-SNATCHING

In bygone days, before the local S.P.C.A. associated itself with international "business," there was none of this incessant trouble about cats.

In Vancouver the cat-snatchers got into trouble for grabbing people's pet cats, pretending to think they were strays.

It can happen here. I suppose if I write anything about this, this letter is less likely to get published.

GLADYS SHRAPNEL

THE TRENCANT TIMES

When Victoria can produce such an editorial as yours of Saturday Oct. 23, and letters that again demand better sidewalks and an end to such a heathenish thing as Poll Tax and Road Tax, there is living hope for a Victoria we need not keep bragging about.

It can be a city. One that residents have no complaint about and tourists return to admire and praise with no prompting. I do not recommend Moscow treatment for the worn-out city grandfathers who sit in solemn secret conclave at our shabby city hall. Other cities in Canada apply "the voters' heaven." We can "sack the lot."

We hire em. We fire em. Let's go! When there's life and vitality in municipal government it reacts in the provincial field and the doleful fact that we have a rump government in B.C. clearly shows the truth and the remedy in both cases.

R. ARMSTRONG.

IT IS NOT CHARITY

There is much talk today of guided missiles and targets, and we are thinking of the target of the Community Chest, and of the sadness of this great catastrophe around Toronto.

I have just happened upon another catastrophe which happened in Jesus' day. May I quote from "The Aquarian Gospel of Jesus the Christ." As Jesus taught, a man stood forth and said: "Rabboni, may I speak?" and Jesus said "Say on." And then the man spoke and said: "A storm upon the sea last night wrecked many fishing boats and scores of men went down to death and lo, their wives and children are in need. What can be done to help them in their sore distress?"

And Jesus said, "A worthy plea, you men of Galilee take heed. We may not bring again to life these men, but we can succor those who looked to them for daily bread. You stewards of the wealth of God, an opportunity has come. Unlock your vaults, bring forth your hoarded gold, bestow it with a lavish hand! This wealth was laid aside for just such times as these. When it was needed not, lo, it was yours to guard. But now it is not yours, for it belongs to those who are in want, and if you give it not you simply bring upon your heads the wrath of God. It is not charity, to give to those in need; it is but honesty. It is but giving men their own." Chapter 114, verses 1 to 3.

SCARBOROUGH ATTITUDE

In The Times of Oct. 20 your editorial mentions the British Labor Party conference at Scarborough, Yorkshire. Scarborough was my home prior to coming to live in Victoria and I can assure the Ottawa Journal that it has not always been a "Conservative stronghold." The Liberals were very strong after the Lloyd George election and my husband and I took a very active part in Liberal affairs up to 1924.

As the Scarborough mayor said on welcoming the delegates, "It was notable that (practically) all entertainments are run by the municipality," and I may add, run with great financial success. The town, about the same size as Greater Victoria, has two outdoor swimming pools (one heated), an outdoor theatre seating over 6,000, cafes, and elevators from beaches to cliff tops and an unpaid council who become aldermen after a number of years of service.

I am quite sure that they would have seen possibilities in using Clover Point as a site for a concert hall, which would shelter an audience while still further accommodation could be made for a cafe with a lovely view, such as at present Victoria does not possess. Vancouver has its Theatre Under the Stars. Why could not Victoria have a summer Theatre by the Sea? As the owner of the Scarborough paper is a personal friend, I frequently send him a copy of the Victoria Times.

FAITH OR COLOR?

I read in your paper of yesterday's date, that Mrs. Hewitt, the young lady from Jamaica, would start housekeeping with her husband in one of the cottages in the school grounds.

In answer to the interesting letter of your correspondent, "Perplexed," I would like this opportunity of congratulating everybody on the amicable and Christ-like settlement of the misunderstandings that have taken place, to have caused so much public comment and newspaper news.

Whether Anglican Christians, or Roman Catholic Christians, we all recognize that the Law of Love is the most important revelation that our Blessed Lord Jesus Christ gave to us, and He holds us together only by love, and not by force, arguments or intimidation.

He established His Church (which does not teach racial discriminations) in the year 33, at Jerusalem, that is 1921 years ago, and this last Sunday in October on the 31st, was usually observed throughout the Protestant World as "Reformation Day." Therefore, I think it is now particularly fitting for all Anglicans, Lutherans, Presbyterians, Methodists, Seventh Day Adventists, etc., all our dearly beloved separated brethren and our sisters to join us Roman Catholics, when we will all over the world be celebrating the "Special Feast or Festival of Christ the King," which was established by Pope Pius XI in 1925, 29 years ago.

We should all "unite and pray" for the "unity of all men in Christ." Unity is strength so that we will be stronger to fight the devil and his evil angels who have so successfully duped and hoodwinked so many precious souls all over the world as His enemies, thus causing so much unrest, conspiracies, chaos, and driving peaceful people, towards terrible wars, etc.

It is therefore necessary for us to show our loyalty to Christ Our King, the Ruler of the Universe, whose kingdom is in the world, but not of the world.

CATHOLIC BIBLE STUDENT.

REACTING WITH CONTEMPT

Every decent individual, despite his political color, will have reacted with contempt and dismay to the words "spated" forth by Premier W. A. C. Bennett at the B.C. Sacred League Convention in Vancouver.

Mr. Bennett's appeal to the basest political instincts by "invidious" remark and suggestion not yet proven by fact, was—if I may compliment him—"un-Premierlike." His recourse to perhaps an all time low record, in paying the late Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King, attributing to him an "alleged" callousness towards the problem of relief in the hungry Thirties, was despicable, for it is in his knowledge and in that of every literate Canadian that Mackenzie King—no matter what his inadequacies may have been—was the greatest founder of, and contributor to constructive progressive labor conditions that Canada has or will ever know (in the relative sense.)

Every single Canadian enjoys the benefits emanating from his Liberal labor legislation, and everyone of us knows this. Premier Bennett's naivete in hoping that the Federal Government will "spurge" the monies built up by "Canadians" towards true representative government, by concessions towards a Sacred campaign, has already, gravitated towards the lower runnels of promiscuity, in that he exhorts his followers to develop a "system" of letter writing to "all parts of Canada" towards the hope of a Federal victory.

This last amazing bit of avowed irresponsibility typifies that "Sacred Philosophy" which Mr. Bennett himself has not been able to master or grasp, for it is "chimerical"—the summation of tag-ends of various philosophies having no basis in fact and bearing no possibilities of stability.

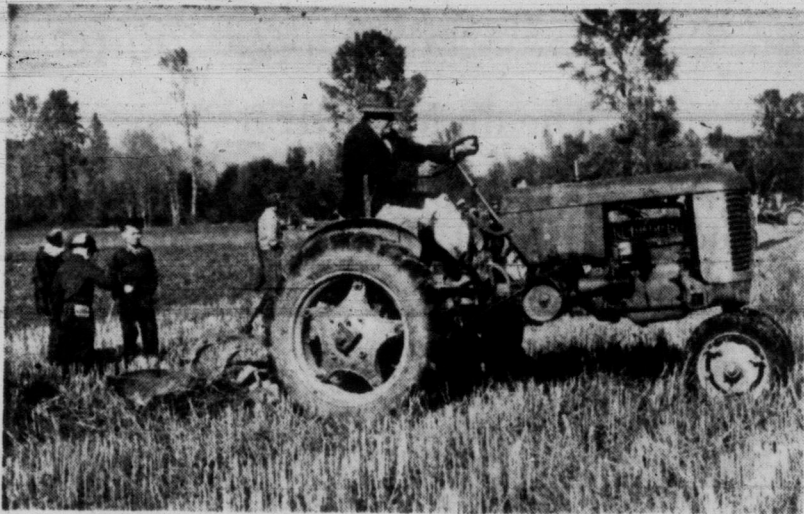

I firmly believe our Premier would regain an erstwhile sincerity, by rejoicing either of the branches of his former Progressive Conservative party, for the quality of his utterances have now a "Drew" flavour.

DUNCAN—Close to 400 spectators spent Saturday at the John Hulbert farm, Koksilah, to watch district plowmen compete in eight classes in the first plowing contest here since 1933.

W. W. McGillivray, deputy agriculture minister, opened the matches at 10.30 a.m. with a short welcome to contestants and congratulations to Cowichan Agricultural Society, sponsor of the event.

"Good plowing is the basis of good farming," he said.

Co-ops Hinder Milk Control, Says Carr

Farmers Claim Prices Lowered

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Royal Commission inquiry into the Vancouver Island and Fraser valley milk industry was told Monday that co-operatives were making it almost impossible for the B.C. Milk Control Board to function efficiently.

Ernest C. Carr, board chairman, made the charge in his initial testimony to Mr. Justice J. V. Cline, who was named to conduct the hearing after milk producers complained that they were not receiving the controlled price of $5.03 per hundredweight for their milk.

"Control at producer level would work if all milk dealers including co-operatives were placed in the same category and if everyone started at the same level," Mr. Carr said.

"If there were no co-operatives in the distribution business, control would be a simple operation," he added.

Island Holly Growers Hold Competition

Members of the Vancouver Island Holly Growers' Association staged a unique contest on Saturday.

Sixty-five, holly producers from Victoria, Saanich, Duncan, Nanaimo and Qualicum, visiting farms in the Duncan area, entered a crop-judging competition. Five trees on the farm of R. W. Buzzard at Duncan were examined and members estimated the probable crop.

Winner of the contest, the man who had the closest estimate, will not be announced until December when the holly is harvested.

Members visited five farms in the district, examining trees and discussing market problems.

Highlight of the field day was an address by Gordon Webster of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton, who discussed fertilization of holly.

Possible crop from Vancouver Island holly farms has not yet been estimated but members are certain that this year's harvest will be of equal and possibly better quality than ever before.

Legion Arranges For Individual Wreath Laying

The ceremony will be held at 11 a.m. Persons wishing to procure wreaths through the Canadian Legion should contact T. Norman, Island Highway, or telephone G. McGregor at 8-2408.

Duncan Chamber Seeks Data On Forest License System

DUNCAN—More information on forest management licenses for the company was decided. Opinions indicated both support and opposition if Crofton were chosen as the mill site.

On the matter of asking that Cowichan Bay be declared a public harbor, it was decided to continue to seek competent advice on the benefits and disadvantages of such a move before voting on it. Opposing factions within the chamber have made the harbor proposal one of the most hotly debated issues of the year.

B. W. W. Cocks presided.

ROLLING HOME SETTLES DOWN IN NEW SITE

BRENTWOOD—Moving of a large bungalow from the former Andros estate on Scott Drive to a new location on Elliott Road, attracted a great deal of interest in this district Monday.

Considerable brush had to be cleared to give access to the building before it could be rolled along the road to the new site, about a quarter of a mile away.

Harold C. Cross says a new home will be built on the vacated property.

A Victoria firm of house movers jacked up the bungalow bodily and transported it to foundations prepared for it on Elliott Road.

Port Alice Logger Hurt

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—A 32-year-old logger who lost a leg and a foot in a logging accident at Port Alice, and who was flown here in an emergency flight, was in poor condition in hospital Monday night.

Hugh McDonald, believed to be from Nova Scotia, was originally to be flown to Vancouver by B.C. Airlines, but darkness halted the flight here.

Members of the Campbell River volunteer fire department were giving blood Monday night in an attempt to keep him alive. McDonald apparently lost his leg and foot when hit by a cable. He was employed by Gibson Logging Co.

Youbou Firm Donates $2,000 to Community

YOUBOU—A cheque for $2,000 was presented Monday to Youbou Welfare Association by Don A. Saunders, manager of B.C. Forest Products Ltd., Cowichan sawmill division, on behalf of the company.

The association is an employee-run organization which has been responsible for many civic improvements in this community, on the north shore of Cowichan Lake.

In most cases in the past, the company has earmarked its donation for specific projects. This year, however, it has stipulated only that the money shall be used for "service, maintenance, repair, acquisition, and operation of community facilities for the people of Youbou."

In presenting the cheque to Kenneth Tasker, association fund committee chairman, Mr. Saunders said: "Our company takes considerable interest and a great deal of pride in all communities in which it has operations."

He mentioned various local improvements, such as construction of swimming facilities, maintenance of the community hall, and building of recreation grounds, and expressed the hope that the $2,000 would be used so that its results "could be seen and appreciated."

"We are thinking in terms of any community venture that will benefit the people as a whole," he said.

Association members with Mr. Tasker at the presentation were Frank Seed, secretary; H. B. Canning, J. P. Miller and D. L. Abernethy.

Wanamaker Quits Downtown N.Y.

Famed Department Store To Be Reopened By Small Shops in Major City Suburbs

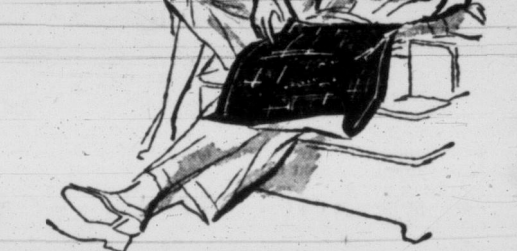

NEW YORK (AP)—One of New York's big department stores, John Wanamaker's, will close next January. Opened more than 50 years ago, the big store will shut down as part of a program for starting new branch stores in the suburban areas of New York and Philadelphia. The 14-story building here occupies a block on lower Broadway, between 8th and 9th streets, which in its early days was the heart of the city's shopping district. He launched the idea of department stores that sell all kinds of products with a store in Philadelphia in 1877. But this centre has shifted northward on Manhattan, as the city grew. The New York store was the second huge store opened by the late retailing pioneer, John Wanamaker.

Retail Total Slips; TV Sales Soar

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canadian retail merchants in all but four of the 20 main retail trades reported sharply declining sales during August, the bureau of statistics said today.

Total sales for the month amounted to $977,678,000—some 6.4 per cent less than in July and 3.6 per cent below the level of August, 1953. It was the first time since 1949 that August sales had fallen below July.

The bureau estimated retail sales for the eight-month period at $7,712,237,000, some 1.6 per cent less than at the same time last year.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Television continued to race ahead of radio on the retail sales floors across the country during July, the bureau of statistics said today.

Some 36,361 TV sets valued at $8,904,132 were sold during the month, compared with 9,433 sets valued at $3,522,019 in the same month of 1953. At the same time radio sales dropped to 25,047 units worth $1,841,482 from 36,650 sets at $2,810,178 in 1953.

CMA Urges Changes in GATT Rules

TORONTO (BUP)—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association urged Trade Minister C. D. Howe today to fight for trade regulations that would eliminate the United States' quotas on agricultural imports and change U.S. duty valuations.

President J. A. Calder of Montreal submitted a brief listing changes the association wants Howe to press for as Canada's delegate to the ninth session of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade at Geneva Nov. 8.

Two major recommendations were aimed specifically at improving Canada's trading position with the United States.

The CMA said international delegates should give careful study to an article banning restrictions on other duties, taxes or other charges on goods exchanged between GATT member countries. One exception which allowed the U.S. agricultural quotas should be abolished, it said, for the sake of Canadian cheese, oats and rye exporters.

WILLIAMS RETURN —SO SAYS BOUDREAU

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Williams will still be hitting home runs for the Boston Red Sox next year, the Chicago Quarterback Club was told Monday.

Lou Boudreau, ousted manager of the Boston Red Sox, said Williams has talked it over with Tom Yawkey, Boston owner, and will return to baseball in 1955.

Williams announced his retirement from the game at the close of the season.

"I understand he has all of his baseball equipment for the 1955 season and is all set for spring practice," said Boudreau.

Boudreau said stories about ill feelings between himself and Williams were "absolutely false."

ANOTHER VIEW

Sugar Ray Should Fistic Comeback
Contact Gavilan Full of Roadblocks

BY GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Close friends have been unable to dissuade Sugar Ray Robinson from attempting a ring comeback after two years on the tap-dancing circuit. The great fighter who retired as middleweight champion in December, 1952, is in training and declares he is serious about winning back his 160-pound title.

Many who saw Robinson at his unbeatable best back in the mid-1940s cherish the memory and wish that he will not subject them to the same pain that Joe Louis did when he returned a few years ago to be pounded out of shape by Ezzard Charles, who wouldn't have lasted three rounds with Louis at his peak. Louis needed money but nobody has asked Sugar Ray to put the gloves on again, and he has approximately half the loose money in Harlem.

Gavilan Films Could Be Lesson

We suggest that Robinson look at the films of the Johnny Saxton-Kid Gavilan fight in Philadelphia last week. We suggest he heed the inept performance of Gavilan, who five years ago was good enough to give him, Robinson, a fairly tight tussle for the welterweight crown. He will see that the Cuban, though only 28, is a shadow of the one they used to call the Hawk. He will see that after six months of doing nothing more strenuous than the thumbe Gavilan was afraid to open up and really fight Saxton until the closing rounds left his legs give out on him. That seems the only possible explanation of his failure to protect his title against the home-town de-

Time Takes Its Relentless Toll

If Gavilan is that far over the hill at 28, Robinson can well wonder what his chances would be of going 15 rounds with such a relentless puncher as Bobo Olson, who succeeded him as middleweight king. The Sugar Boy says he is 32, but the book credits him with 34 years.

Sugar Ray started fighting as an amateur featherweight in 1939, and since 1940 has been a professional. Almost from the start he was a great fighter and a tireless one.

Robinson enjoyed an exceptionally long and wearing ring career, a good deal longer and more strenuous than Gavilan has known.

Quakers Sign Rookie Winger

SASKATOON (CP)—Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League have assigned rookie winger Bruce Carmichael to Nelson Maple Leafs of the Western International League.

"We were well satisfied with Carmichael's play during his three-game professional tryout," Quaker manager Norman Couch said Monday. "But we feel he will benefit by more seasoning in senior amateur ranks."

Carmichael played last season for St. Boniface Canadiens of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League. His home is in Winnipeg. He is the property of the New York Rangers.

Horvath, Fielder Share WHL Point Lead

SEATTLE (AP)—Bronco Horvath of Edmonton and Guyle Fielder of New Westminster continue to share the Western Hockey League individual scoring honors for the second straight week. Both have 16 points.

Horvath has six goals and 10 assists and Fielder's 16 points are divided between eight goals and eight assists. Fielder's eight goals lead the league's snipers and Horvath's 10 assists gives him the lead in that department. Four players share the honor of being "player of the week." Sid Finney and Gerry Couture of Calgary, Eddie Dorohoy of Victoria and Alex Kaleta of Saskatoon each picked up six points to take a big bump in the scoring race.

Johnny Bower of Vancouver continues to set the pace for the goalkeepers with a goals-against average of 2.57 per game. He is the only goalie with a shutout. Harry Dick, Vancouver defenseman, lead the penalty-getters with 46 minutes.

The scoring leaders follow:

PARIS (AP)—World featherweight champion Sandy Saddler of the United States, won a technical knockout over

France's Ray Pamechon Monday night when the bleeding Frenchman was kept by his seconds from coming out for the sixth round of the 10-round non-title bout.

Both fighters were bleeding. Pamechon was cut beneath the right eye and on the chin in the second round and on the mouth in the fourth.

His face was a pulp and his handlers would not let him come out for the sixth although he appeared strong and wrestled with them.

Both fighters weighed 128½.

C. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg said that, in view of the denial, "no disciplinary action is warranted" against Stukus.

The commissioner said in a statement that he checked Stukus on a Canadian Press item from Vancouver Oct. 20 which quoted the coach as saying at a luncheon that "We'll get even with certain clubs for the scores, the injuries and the things they did."

It also quoted him as saying that tackle Arnie Weinmeister has hurt "because he disobeyed my orders. . . I warned Arnie never to turn his back while playing on a western conference playing field." Halter said he received a letter from Stukus denying that he made the statements "or that he made any remarks from which there reasonably could be inferred such a statement."

Halter said he found that the CP report was based on a story in a Vancouver newspaper and that Stukus had informed him the writer of the story was not present at the luncheon.

HOCKEY SHOULD BE CINCH FOR ASHBEE AFTER FLOOD

Don Here After Grim Trip

Winger Don Ashbee has joined Victoria Cougars, but nothing he will face in the Western Hockey League can compare with the tragedy and destruction he left behind in Ontario.

Ashbee, scheduled to join the Cougars last week, bumped into Hurricane Hazel at its worst, and his departure was delayed while he engaged in rescue operations.

The grim destruction that carried entire families to their deaths was recalled by Ashbee, who said flood waters hit so fast that most victims never had a chance.

The main force of the storm hit the suburb of Weston, where Ashbee resided, a week ago Friday night. Power failure followed and the Humber River rose 16 feet in a matter of hours, sweeping everything before it.

Waves were so high that it was impossible to use rescue boats, he said, and the river was flowing so fast that even cars were being swept along in the force of the flood.

Families could be seen huddled on tops of their homes before the raging torrent swept them out of sight, some never to be seen again.

Rescue parties, including high school students, worked in shifts searching for flood victims. It was indescribably gruesome.

Ashbee's wife's folks at Barrie were informed by a ham radio operator that all was well with them. It was the only communication possible.

Rescue operations were still being carried out when Ashbee and his family—three children—left by secondary roads, the only route possible.

That was Tuesday morning and for the first 100 miles of the trip, grim reminders of the flood damage were evident on every side.

Certainly pleased to be here, Ashbee hopes to make his home in the city. A member of the Peterborough lacrosse club for the past three years, he plans to bid for a place on the Shamrocks.

Though not having skated for the past 12 days, Ashbee will likely be in the lineup for the Cougars Wednesday when they host Saskatoon Quakers. He worked out with the club this morning.

Meanwhile the Quakers are still awaiting word on Max Bentley's application to buy his release from the Maple Leafs and at the same time be waived out of the NHL. It is not thought possible that he will be with the Quakers here.

CITY MAN HONORED

Mitchell B.C. Track President

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harry Mitchell of Victoria was elected president of the B.C. Track and Field Association at the group's 35th annual meeting in Vancouver, Monday night.

Mitchell succeeds Lloyd Swindells of Vancouver, who held the post for two years.

Others named to the executive were Frank Collier of Vancouver, first vice-president; Fred Roots of Vancouver, second vice-president; Mrs. Eulalie Parrish of North Vancouver, secretary, and John Freeman of Vancouver, treasurer.

In its annual nominations to the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, the association named Roy Pella of Sudbury, Ont. for the FNA Rowell trophy and Richie Ferguson of Toronto for the Davies trophy.

Pella's nomination for the Rowell trophy, presented to the outstanding field athlete in Canada, was based on his performance in finishing second in the British Empire Games discus event.

Ferguson's nomination for the Davies trophy, presented to the outstanding track and field athlete in Canada, was for his surprising third-placing in the "Miracle Mile" of Roger Bannister and John Landy in the Empire Games.

Take Second League Title

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos have finished in first place for the second consecutive year in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

They made the grade with a 21-2 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers Monday night and are assured a bye into the league finals.

Saskatchewan has 22 points for 16 games, same as Edmonton. But Edmonton's better points-for-and-against record give them a bye into the finals.

The Bombers held a 12-9 lead at halftime, but majors by Jackie Parker and Bernie Faloney for Edmonton, kept the Bombers in the third and fourth quarters sailed the game away for Edmonton.

A Faloney-to-Rollin Prather pass was good for another touchdown. Tackle Bob Dean booted all three converts, to run his season's string to 35, and added a field goal.

Winnipeg half Jess Thomas and Tom Casey scored majors with Buck Rogers doing the converting.

Rangers Recall Lou Fontinato

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Rangers have recalled Lou Fontinato, a 22-year-old defenseman, from Vancouver of the Western Hockey League to replace injured Allen Stanley.

Fontinato, a colorful player nicknamed "Leaping Louie," is scheduled to arrive by plane today and will be in uniform for Wednesday night's home game against the Detroit Red Wings.

He injured his knee slightly in a Western League game Saturday night, but is expected to be in shape to play.

Little League Baseball Proposed for Esquimalt

There is a strong possibility that Little League Baseball under sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will make a debut in Esquimalt next season.

Jaycee officials announced today that a meeting of interested adults in that area will be held Friday night at 7:30 at the Fraser Street Hall.

The Esquimalt Parks Board has agreed to the use of a central location which can be easily developed and officials state a large crowd at the meeting Friday night will practically guarantee Little League Baseball for that area.

Lions Fogged Out In Grid Finale

Roughriders Trip Leos, Meet Bombers

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A pea-soup fog stopped a football game here last night for the first time in Canadian gridiron history.

The heavy mist rolled down into Empire Stadium about halfway through the final quarter like a well-organized smoke screen. The Saskatchewan Roughriders were leading the British Columbia Lions 15-9.

Somebody thought it was smoke and yelled "fire," but the harrassed officials looked up and saw the pea-souper rolling in from above the south stands from False Creek, about a mile from the stadium.

The murk kept close to the field and gradually blanketed the stadium so that fans on one side of the field couldn't see those on the other. The officials called a two-minute break, and thinking that the fog was about to disappear, the play was resumed. But the fog got thicker as the players complained they couldn't see 10 yards in front of them, and the officials called a 15-minute rest period "due to a change in the weather." The 15 minutes was extended to half an hour as the fans and officials made futile attempts to disperse the elements.

Public address announcer Luke Moyley got a laugh from the crowd by pleading "every-one inhale and blow."

EMERGENCY MEASURES

Then a war veteran remembered that he used to watch the air force clear their runways of fog by lighting blow torches around the airfield. The officials asked everybody to light their cigarette lighters and matches. Some ways set fire to their programs, but were stopped by police who thought things were getting a little out of hand.

The Roughriders will meet the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a two-game home-and-home total point series in the semifinal playoffs as the game was ruled complete.

RECORD RUN

The game was highlighted by a third-quarter record 112-yard run by Lion halfback Len Meltzer. The play came on an attempted field goal by Rider end Joe Aguirre, who won the WIFU scoring total by racking up a field goal and two converts in the game for a season total of 85 points.

Halfback Jimmy Chambers took Aguirre's attempted placement and lateraled to Meltzer. The touchdown was converted by halfback Al Pollard who got the Lions' other points on a field goal to tie the game 9-9.

The Riders sewed up the game early in the fourth quarter on a touchdown by former Cleveland Brown halfback Ken Carpenter on a pass from quarterback Frank Tripucka, ex-Notre Dame signal caller. Carpenter also got the Riders' other touchdown by taking a first-quarter pass from Tripucka.

WIFU PRESIDENT RULES GAME RESULT TO STAND

WINNIPEG (CP)—Monday night's fog-curtailed Western Conference football game between Saskatchewan Roughriders and British Columbia Lions will go into the record books as a 15-9 victory for Roughriders.

G. Sydney Halter, Western Interprovincial Football Union Commissioner, said today: "as it was the final game of the season and as the standing of the league cannot be altered or affected, I see no purpose in the game being replayed either wholly or partially."

NANAIMO TRIPS TAXIMEN

Milford Made Clippers Click

Navy 5, Drake Hotel 5
Nanaimo 6, C & C Taxi 3

By DENNY BOYD
George Milford not graceful but then, neither is a cement mixer. And both are good for mashing things up.

Milford, a husky go-to-blazes type of defenseman on the Nanaimo Clippers' club, did things in his own bashing style Monday night at Memorial Arena and his way was good enough to lead Clippers to a 6-3 victory over C & C Taxi.

Clippers had to come from behind a 3-1 deficit to earn the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League victory and Milford made one of the biggest plays of the game to establish the victory pattern. C & C had taken a 1-0 lead in the first quarter and hustled it into a 3-1 margin early in the second quarter. Bruno Furian scored twice on Mel Gordeau passes to tie it.

Neil Standley, C & C's big gun, had a breakaway, but Nanaimo goalie Spanky Hodgson came far out of his net to clear the puck. Hodgson was pinned to the boards and Taximen buzzed all over the Nanaimo end.

One Rush Rough Enough

Out of the cluster of players were held to a standstill for a period and a half by C & C, who were hot until they tired.

Standley got the first goal of the game, steering in Al Arnold's true pass and Standley set Del Brown on his way for the second goal. Red Carr got one back for Nanaimo but C & C went ahead 3-1 on a beautiful piece of solo work by Bill Helgeson.

It was then that Furian got his two, the first while Carr and Fred McColl were sitting out penalties after a brief scuffle. Milford engineered Plensky's goal and Bert Yesowick and Furian again added insurance.

George Hall had a busy night in C & C's nets, but turned in a top job.

Sailors Score Moral Win

In the first game of the night, Navy held off a late rally by an off-color Drake team to gain their first point of the young season with a 5-5 split with Drakes.

Smarting from the 1-40 pasting they received in Nanaimo Saturday night, Navy roared into a 4-1 lead in the third quarter, only to see Drakes suddenly come alive to take a 5-4 lead.

Johnny Bond, with two, Paul Wannamaker and George Kelly for Navy and Bob Coulter for Drakes made it 4-1 with eight minutes of the third period gone.

But Archie Gaver, last week's hero, started the Drake comeback and in quick succession corrected a previous statement to the effect that the Jaycees found a deficit after the current year of operation.

Actually, there was a surplus of $354.74 in the sponsors' account, and present league executives feel able to reduce the charge for sponsorship to $100 for the coming season.

There is also a strong indication that operating expenses will be substantially reduced in 1955. Last season the league paid umpires $476, $750.51 maintenance, $216.41 insurance and donated $378.56 to the cerebral palsy group. Despite these costs there was a total surplus of $282.16.

The youth development committee of the Jaycees, responsible for operation of the league at Hillside Park, has

On The OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

The war of 1080 won't be found in any history book. Nevertheless this battle has been one of the most successful ever waged on predatory animals by the British Columbia Game Department.

The term 1080 is the popular name for the poison sodium fluoroacetate, a compound that has been tremendously effective in the control of wolves and coyotes in the province during the past few years.

The poison, which is highly effective against members of the dog family while having little effect on other animals, was first used in B.C. in 1949 on a test basis. Poisoned baits are left in areas known to be populated by wolves and coyotes. The bait sites are carefully mapped and recorded. Just how effective these poison baits have been in the extermination of undesirable predators can be gleaned from bounty figures compiled by the game branch since 1949.

A bounty payment of $4 has been in effect for each coyote pelt presented at government offices while wolf pelts have brought between $25 and $40, depending on the locality.

In 1949, according to government figures, bounty was paid on 1,180 wolves at a cost to the government of $32,635. At that time there were very few poison stations.

In 1953, with 1,911 poison stations in operation, bounty was paid on only 544 wolf pelts, with a saving of $18,000.

There were 6,847 coyote pelts submitted for bounties in 1949 but by 1953 this number was cut to 4,425, at a saving of $10,000.

The poison has been given almost full credit in the number of predators shot. As the poison sites were increased, the predators were exterminated to such an extent that hunters had difficulty finding targets.

Since 1950, when only about 100 poison stations were operating, the figure has been increased to almost 2,000 in the winter of 1953-54. Bounty payments have decreased in direct ratio to the number of poison stations established.

Every precaution is taken in handling of the poison baits. Bait stations are carefully mapped out and each spring government hunters visit the sites and destroy by fire all remaining portions of the poisoned meat.

Frank Morse of the South Vancouver Island Rangers announces his outfit will hold two Christmas shoots in December. Both will be Sunday affairs, Dec. 5 and 19. . . . Ranger junior chairman Murray Macdonald, after serving a fine term, has been forced to resign his post. . . . Harry Peard at Brentwood reports Saanich Inlet is alive and jumping with grise, particularly over Rumberton way. However, Harry says he saw only two coho brought in over the week-end. . . . Bill Scott and Alex Ralings found good coho fishing off Crofton recently while there are a few springs showing off Oak Bay. . . . All reports indicate the trout fishing is terrific in the upper reaches of the Cowichan.

Soccer Transfer Fee Short of Record Sum

BY JEFF RYAN

LONDON (CP) — A soccer deal which was expected to set a money record appears likely to conclude shortly on a minor note.

Blanchflower To Benefit From Deal

LONDON (CP) — The proposed transfer of Danny Blanchflower from Aston Villa to Arsenal has thrown new emphasis on the fact that the players involved in big and small deals are assured only the £10 transfer fee.

That's the way the rules read, although players can get more under the Football Association rule covering benefits.

Each player is eligible for a benefit after five years' continuous service with the same club. This benefit shall not be worth more than £750 and is payable at the end of five years of service.

When a player retires or is transferred before his benefit accrues, he may, "as a reward for loyal and meritorious service," be allowed a proportion of the donation that the club had guaranteed or probably would have guaranteed for his benefit. This "grant for presumed-accrued share of benefit" is awarded on the sanction of the league management committee.

It is not given to players who have been with the club less than four months of the playing season; whose conduct is judged "unsatisfactory" or "who, by reason of conduct or demands on the club, practically compel any club to transfer them."

In practice, it is unusual for clubs to withhold benefits. Blanchflower joined Aston Villa in March, 1950, and would have been eligible for his first benefit next year. It was reported Monday that Arsenal will purchase Blanchflower for £27,000.

Aguirre Takes Western Grid Point Crown

WINNIPEG (CP) — Joe the Toe Aguirre of the Saskatchewan Roughriders has captured the Western Interprovincial Football Union individual scoring title with 85 points, one more than Calgary Stampeders' Tom Miner. American players took all the top spots in the scoring race.

Final statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Aguirre, who needed 13 points in his last two games to tie Miner, connected for 14 to gain possession of the Dave Dryburgh Memorial Trophy. The veteran end from the defunct Los Angeles Dons, who won the title in 1950 while with Winnipeg, didn't score a touchdown but hit on a WIFU record 19 field goals, 25 converts and three singles.

Miner scored his 84 points on one touchdown, 14 field goals, 33 converts and four singles. The former Tulsa University end had held the lead right up to the final game.

Jackie Parker, Edmonton Eskimos' brilliant running and pass-catching back, moved into third place with 67 points on 13 touchdowns—tops in the league this season—and two singles. The former Mississippi State all-American missed the first two games of the schedule through injuries.

The leaders follow:

Bratton Party To Fistic Flop

NEW YORK (UP) — Johnny Bratton, former NBA welterweight champion, gave "poor condition" as the excuse today for his strange, trance-like performance Monday night while losing his first comeback bout on a unanimous decision to Chico Varona of Cuba.

Before they entered the ring for their television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena, heavy betting on Varona had dropped the odds favoring Bratton at 7-5 to "even money."

The fistic fiasco had been publicized as a test fight for 27-year-old Bratton, formerly of Chicago but now living in New York. It was his first start in eight months—his first encounter since last Feb. 24, when his dismal fight with Johnny Saxton at Philadelphia caused fans to throw cushions and cigar butts into the ring.

But last night's test proved only that Bratton is "washed up" or woefully out of condition or still subject to dream-like trances when the going gets tough. He acted like a man in a dream from the fourth through the ninth rounds. He stood flat-footed in the ring during most of that period and did practically nothing, while the 1,500 fans booed at intervals.

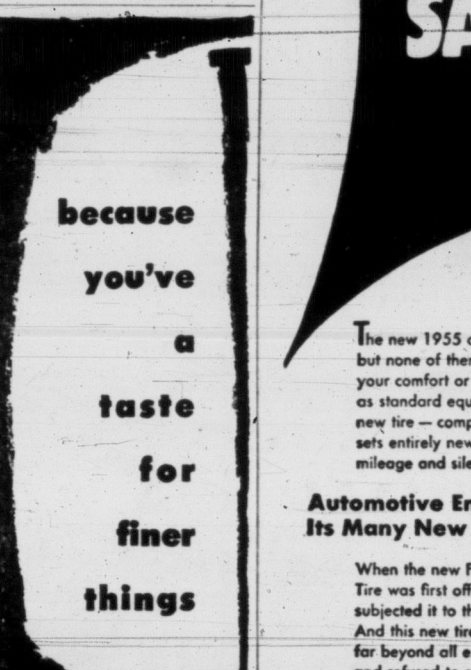

Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York Boxing Commission was so incensed at Bratton's performance that he "bawled out" officials of the London Sporting Club for tossing Bratton into the ring with a ranking fighter like Varona for his first comeback engagement.

However, Christenberry said he would permit Johnny to continue fighting against lesser opposition. After the February flopper at Philadelphia, Bratton was suspended by boxing commissions throughout the nation, and he was fined $3,000 by the Pennsylvania commission. His suspensions were lifted recently.

BASEBALL'S BEST PERCENTAGE

Yanks' Whitey Ford Holds Merited Mark

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Whitey Ford, stylish New York Yankees' southpaw, has only three American seasons under his belt, but he boasts the top lifetime pitching percentage in the major leagues today.

Ford has won 43 and lost 15 for a .741 percentage. In 1950, his freshman season, he had a 9-1 record and then was drafted into the army.

The 25-year-old hurler returned to the Yanks in 1953 and picked up where he left off with an 18-6 won-lost mark. He posted a 16-8 record in 1954.

Sal the Barber Maglie of the New York Giants has the highest percentage among the active National League pitchers, .699, according to figures compiled by The Associated Press. The crafty right-hander has won 86 and dropped 37 in six complete seasons with the Giants.

Cleveland's Mike Garcia ranks second in the American League among pitchers with 50 or more decisions. The Big Bear has won 104 decisions while losing 57 for a .646 percentage in six campaigns with the Indians.

Sandy Consuegra of the Chicago White Sox holds down third with 43-24 for .642. In 1954 the Cuban right-hander had the best American League percentage, 16-3, .842.

Cleveland's Bob Lemon is fourth with 163-92 for .639, followed by Mel Parnell of the Boston Red Sox, 114-66, .633, and Bob Feller of the Indians, 262-154, .630.

Vic Raschi of the St. Louis Cardinals is runner-up to Maglie in the National League with 128 victories and 59 defeats for a .684 mark.

Raschi was with the Yanks in the American League from 1947-1953, winning 120 and losing 50.

STANDARD EQUIPMENT ON 1955 CARS

NEW Firestone SAFI-TUBELESS TIRES 35% Safer!

The new 1955 cars will headline many new features, but none of them will be more important to your safety, your comfort or your pocketbook than tubeless tires as standard equipment at NO EXTRA COST! This great new tire — completely new in design and construction — sets entirely new standards of safety, riding comfort, mileage and silence.

Automotive Engineers Acclaim Its Many New Features

When the new Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tubeless Tire was first offered to car manufacturers, they subjected it to their most severe and exhaustive tests. And this new tire passed every test with performance far beyond all expectations. They found it ran quietly and refused to squeal on the sharpest turns; took the danger out of blowouts; abolished roadside delays and provided riding comfort and steering ease never before possible.

You Can Have This Great New Tire On Your New 1955 Car or On Your Present Car

When you buy a new model car of any make, you can have it delivered on new Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tubeless Tires. Or, if you continue to drive your present car, you can have these new tires put on it at no extra cost . . . no special rims are needed. See your nearby Firestone Dealer for complete information.

PACKED WITH NEW FEATURES FOR 4-WAY SAFETY

NEW SILENT SAFI-GRIP TREAD runs quietly and refuses to squeal even on the sharpest turns. It gives greater protection against skidding and greater traction than any tire ever before offered. And its revolutionary new design makes it a real champion for long, trouble-free mileage.

SEALS PUNCTURES AGAINST LOSS OF AIR. If a nail or other sharp object should penetrate the extra-tough tread and cord body, the SAFI-LINER prevents loss of air, minimizing the danger and annoyance of punctures. Most likely you'll never know you have a puncture and there's no need to stop and change the tire.

TAKES THE DANGER OUT OF BLOWOUTS. The new SAFI-DIPPED CORD BODY and the new SAFI-LINER and tubeless construction make this tire extra strong and takes the danger out of blowouts. Damage which might cause an ordinary tire to blow out becomes as harmless as a slow leak.

NEVER BEFORE SUCH RIDING COMFORT... SUCH STEERING EASE. You'll immediately notice its sensational riding comfort and steering ease. It absorbs bumps and road shocks and provides a super-soft cushion of rubber and air which smooths out even the roughest roads. Extra-tough CURB-GUARD which protects white sidewalls.

U.S. Cabinet Meets on TV

Dulles Reports on Paris Pact In First Televised Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles, speaking at the first televised presidential cabinet meeting in U.S. history, Monday night predicted ratification of the New Western Europe defence plan and forecast failure for Soviet attempts to smash it.

Reporting in intimate fashion to President Eisenhower, other members of the cabinet and the country, Dulles said the Paris conference which produced the alliance agreements had to succeed "because the price of failure had become prohibitive."

With Eisenhower seated at his side in the White House cabinet room, Dulles—just back from Paris—expressed confidence that each of the countries which signed the agreements will ratify them through their parliaments.

Dulles said he thought European integration and unity under the new agreements would be "quite comparable and equally effective" with what would have been achieved under the old, ill-fated plan for a European Defense Community.

WITH THE FORCES

Rugged Mock Battle For Rainbow Cadets

A force of 29 senior hand-picked cadets from the Victoria Rainbow division of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps got a taste of mock warfare under rugged weather conditions in the Cowichan area during the weekend.

They went up against the seasoned fighting men known as the Cowichan Commandos. Led by Lieut. Cmdr. James Flynn, they comprise a plnt-size version of the Foreign Legion with retired and discharged combined operations warriors of several nations in the makeup.

For the Sea Cadets it was a real test of their ability to do the job in pitch darkness and the temperatures that slumped to 25 degrees, 7 degrees of frost.

The Commandos were in the role of an advance demolition enemy party that had hit the coast and were moving inland to prepare the ground for a large-scale invasion. Job of the cadets was to find them; destroy them. They did just that at 12.15 p.m. Sunday. The exercise started at 2 p.m. Saturday and ended at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The lads camped at the foot of Mount Edwards. Each carried his own food, cooking utensils, bedrolls, a rifle and rounds of blank ammunition. Walkie-talkie sets provided by HMCS Naden were carried by each of the three sections.

Cadets bedded down in the fields and unused chicken houses for the night and were routed out of their beds in a surprise

Section One of the cadets was commanded by Midshipman W. R. Parsons with PO J. D. Dunick. Section Two was commanded by Lieut. W. W. Ross with PO E. N. Butler. Section Three was commanded by Sub-Lieut. Allen Robertson with PO J. D. Longmuir. Overall commander was Lieut. Cmdr. T. A. Dando, Rainbow commander.

We understand that the Cowichan area people are trying their utmost to get the navy's green light to establish a reserve division similar to the Victoria HMCS Malahat Division. They are apparently keen for this set-up up that way.

Lieut. Cmdr. Dando reports that 14 boys enrolled in the Rainbow junior corps have been taken on strength by the senior corps. They stay in the junior group until they reach the age of 14 years. Junior corps has been in operation for four years and accepts lads aged 12 up to 14 years.

Elevated to the senior ranks were Fred Lambier, Robert O'Hara, Murray Holmes, Robert Greive, D. J. Denny, Robert Flynn, Sandy Sands, Patrick Mullaly, P. C. Little, David McNaught, John Shaw, Michael Roberts, Michael Muirhead and Fred Baggis.

Sweepers on Way To Form Naval Reserve Squadron

The Bangor class mine sweepers, HMC ships Digby and Brockville, now en route to Esquimalt from Halifax, eventually will join HMCS Cordova of Vancouver to form the Second Canadian Reserve Squadron, the navy has announced.

The ships, which are traveling in company with the frigate, HMCS Jonquiere, are due here Nov. 5. One will be attached to HMCS Malahat, reserve training establishment here, and the other to HMCS Chatham at Prince Rupert. But for next summer's training program, it is planned to have the three ships work together to provide sea training for reservists.

Cordova has been attached to HMCS Discovery at Vancouver for two years. The Algerine-type minesweeper HMCS Saulte Ste. Marie, which has served as tender to Malahat since 1948, will be returned to service with the active navy.

Week Remains To Register for Civic Elections

Only one week remains for persons in Victoria to register at the City Hall so they may vote in the December civic elections.

Deadline for registering is 5 p.m. Monday, November 1. Household and licensees, whose names were on the voters' list last year, will have their names carried over automatically provided current taxes have been paid. Property owners are also listed without registration.

All other persons must register. City clerk Frank Hunter reported today that housewives and others who may now register under the new classification of "spouse" have not added greatly to the list. Few persons have registered as such.

The "spouse" classification is designed particularly to give voting rights to wives of property owners.

Victoria Labor Council Backs Forest Licenses

Forest management licenses, under fire of the Port Alberni local of the International Woodworkers of America, have the approval of the Victoria Labor Council (CCL), secretary Edwin Haw said today.

The Port Alberni local has protested the granting of a forest management license to B.C. Forest Products Ltd. to cover various area on the west coast of Vancouver Island. "The local fears that small loggers will suffer under the license plans," Mr. Haw said. "We feel on the other hand that timber will be preserved through the licenses such as B.C. Forest Products wants, and that 100 years from now trees will be ready for harvest on land that is being logged this year."

"In actual practice the small logging operators do 30 per cent of the logging of the larger companies," he said. "The small logger is inclined to cut everything, burn his slash, then forget all about putting the land back to use," he said. "The labor council wants to see the timber industry preserved through reforestation."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

As a one-time dweller in the ivory towers of the advertising arts, I am a fervent admirer of The Testimonial. The Testimonial, I have always felt, is hard to beat when it comes to selling the Goods.

The only trouble is keeping a good supply of Testimonials on hand, ready for use when the need arises. So, as one more Between Times Free Service, herewith a selection of Testimonials from which to choose.

"I like your brand chafing dish, because no other brand chafing dish has chafed in quite the same way. In fact, I am hardly irritated at all by your brand chafing dish."

"I was afraid I was going to die of liver trouble, but since taking your wonderful product, I now find I am going to live of dire trouble."

"I have been using your self-raising flour for some months now, but so far I ain't raised no flowers. Did I do something wrong?"

"I do not know what I would do without your baking soda. I find it essential whenever I bake soda."

"I can hardly express in words how much I think of your anti-acid compound. I tried it on MY Auntie Acid, and she left me the family cat in her will."

"I can't say too much for your brand shoes with the 20-year guarantee. It only took me six months to go through the soles, but I have 18 years to go on the uppers before I get a new pair, free, as per your guarantee."

"P.S. I have found going barefoot most healthful."

"I like El Foundliffor Cigars because they do not burn my throat, discolor my wife's curtains, drop ash on the carpets or cloud the room with smoke. Best of all, I like El Foundliffor Cigars because you can't light them and thus automatically avoid the nasty nicotine habit."

"I sure like your brand television set with the BIG 17-inch screen. I don't know how I ever got along with another brand television set with just a 17-inch 17-inch screen."

"I have been using your corn syrup for five years, and I wish to state my corns are much better now."

As noted above, these testimonials are offered as a Between Times Free Service to advertising men.

Signatories can also be supplied on request, but there will be a small fee for same. Or a reasonable facsimile.

DROODLES

I have no idea why this Martian has only one eye instead of the normal three. If you ask me he is probably an imposter from Venus. He landed in a Saucer on my roof last summer and said his telepathic mind-ray showed him I was the Earth's most intelligent man. (he said he was wearing the monocle because it had a defective lens and he didn't want to see me too clearly) and he wanted to ask me some questions. The only question I remember was, "If my telepathic mind-ray shows me you're Earth's most intelligent man—could you please direct me to a store where I might get my telepathic mind-ray fixed?" I sent him to a TV repair shop and last I heard he was getting "howdy doody" regularly on his stomach. Serves him right for being such a wise guy.

Maggie's Eyes Scout Island In Training

By MONTE ROBERTS

The "eyes" of HMCS Magnificent gave up-Island points a keen scrutiny this morning.

Squadron VS 881 took off from Patricia Bay airport at 9 a.m. on a three-hour reconnaissance exercise designed to give pilots and observers in the Avenger aircraft additional training in spotting and reporting on land targets.

The exercise was carried out after a briefing from Lieut. James Cowan, RCR. The purpose is to prepare navy pilots for co-operation with the army when and if needed.

Overland exercises, such as this morning's, require different techniques of map-reading, spotting and reporting than those those carried out at sea.

The planes took off in teams of two, flying at different altitudes. The higher plane served as cover for the lower plane, which was ordered to pick out and photograph specific points.

VICTORIAN LEADER

The Avenger squadron is under command of Lieut. Cmdr. R. W. J. Cocks, formerly of Victoria.

Later in the morning Squadron VS 871, consisting of Sea Fury fighter planes commanded by Lieut. Cmdr. J. W. Logan of Stanley, N.S., took off on a similar mission.

The Sea Furies' usual job is to provide fighter protection for the carrier and its anti-submarine aircraft, but their pilots are also trained in reconnaissance work.

Both squadrons hope to work in daily exercises while the ship is in port here. Over-land practice is carried out at least twice a year.

The squadron will be based at Patricia Bay airport until Magificent leaves for Vancouver.

Guest at Party Pleads Guilty To Theft Charge

Donald A. Geisser, 1760 Kings Road, pleaded guilty to two charges of theft of property valued under $25, when he appeared in Saanich police court today.

Police said Geisser admitted having in his possession an electric razor and a small quantity of jewelry, missed from 2880 Murray Drive after a party attended by Geisser the night of September 25.

He was remanded for sentence to November 1.

Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered the defendant to make restitution for the stolen property.

CITY BLACKOUT FOLLOWS UP-ISLAND POWER FAILURE

Trouble at one of the generating units at the John Hart power development at Campbell River Monday night cut out about 80 per cent of Victoria's lights at 6.50 p.m. for periods ranging from two to 20 minutes.

Also effected were up-Island communities on the line between Campbell River and Alberni where the trouble occurred.

B.C. Power Commission officials had not located the exact cause of the difficulty earlier today as units at the power project shut off automatically when something goes wrong.

Longest affected district was Oak Bay where lights were out 20 minutes.

Shelbourne Program Will Cost $200,000

Close to $200,000 will be spent in commercial development at the Shelbourne-Hillside intersection.

Two oil companies will spend close to $100,000 on the erection of modern gas stations at the corner, and there is every possibility that another store will be added to the growing number of business outlets at the busy corner.

First move took place today when a business block was moved to make room for oil company installations.

The appearance of the intersection will be completely transformed by early next year. Included will be removal or demolition of two private residences.

The Standard Oil Company will establish $50,000 service stations on either side of Shelbourne on the north side of Hillside-Lansdowne.

The two-story, white stucco building, built seven years ago for around $17,000 and which stood on the northwest corner, was moved on greased timbers to a location 50 yards away through the efforts of a Litz house-moving crew.

The store-apartment building came to rest just south of Jack Grant's grocery and confectionery store on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Mr. Grant, an 18-year Victorian, purchased the building from Standard Oil, that bought it and the property from William J. Currie, 1637 McRae, for a reported $28,000. He will have it redone by contractor Fred Robinson. It will house the same fish and chip shop and probably another store. The second story comprises a full suite.

Traffic was rerouted by city and Saanich police during the relocation of the building.

"Even the people upstairs didn't smell anything," Woods said. "If it had been anything like burning wood I would have called the fire department. I'm generally pretty careful about fires."

Fire Chief Frank Briers condemned the old type of construction in which wooden supports are embedded into brickwork of fireplaces and chimneys.

Modern by-laws prohibit building this way because of the fire hazard.

A second fire of smaller proportions but caused the same way occurred Monday evening at 6.30 at the home of G. C. Keetch, 1421 Vancouver. Mr. Keetch was home and noticed smoke coming up around the base of the fireplace almost immediately. Damage was light.

City Policeman Commended for Preventing Panic

A mental patient, being transported from Victoria to Escondido, frightened some passengers aboard a CPR steamship last week when he escaped from a stateroom and ran loose.

First word of the incident was made public today when the police commission dealt with a letter from W. Shakespeare, of Halifax, a passenger aboard the ship, who wrote to commend the manner in which the situation was handled by Const. John Rickerby.

Mr. Shakespeare said some of the startled passengers were near to panic, but that control was restored by cool action of the constable.

House Burns For 24 Hours Before Alarm

Close Call for Two Families

Fire smouldered in walls, floor and ceiling for more than 24 hours at the home of Gordon Woods and John Milliken Sunday and Monday before passers-by noticed that the house was on fire.

No one was home at Woods' downstairs apartment or Milliken's upstairs flat when firemen were alerted just before 2 p.m., but both families had slept in the building Sunday, unaware that a sudden draft could have turned the house into a raging inferno.

SAW SMOKE

Persons walking by the house at 822 North Park noticed smoke issuing from under siding on the upper floor and turned in the alarm.

Firemen found that faulty construction of a lower floor fireplace had allowed wooden beams and joists in the floor and walls alongside the chimney to start burning inside the wall. Heat spread upstairs and under Milliken's floor, but smoke did not escape into the rooms.

Woods said today the last fire that had been set in his fireplace was before noon Sunday and it was not burning long after that. He said he had noticed a small flame "tortured metal" in the house about 11 p.m. Sunday, but did not associate it with fire.

SUSPECTED TV

He said he thought it was due to his television set being overheated, and he pulled out the electric plug before going to bed. He got up about 1 1/2 hours later to check the premises again, but found the odor less distinct. He rejoined his family and went to sleep.

All this time, firemen said, all joists, studs and lathing were being scorched and the smoke was probably going into the attic.

"Even the people upstairs didn't smell anything," Woods said. "If it had been anything like burning wood I would have called the fire department. I'm generally pretty careful about fires."

Fire Chief Frank Briers condemned the old type of construction in which wooden supports are embedded into brickwork of fireplaces and chimneys.

Brief Presented to Provincial Cabinet

A three-man delegation of Protestants met the B.C. cabinet today to present a brief asking that no financial aid be given Roman Catholic schools operating in the province.

The meeting followed a recent cabinet hearing of Roman Catholic bishops on June 15, during which the prelates asked: That Roman Catholic schools taxes go direct to RC separate schools, instead of helping pay for public schools; or, that financial aid be given by government grants for teachers' salaries, on a per student basis, and leasing RC school buildings for a nominal fee to relieve the church of paying taxes.

The Protestants will demand that no aid be given the separate schools, on grounds the separate school system in Ontario and other provinces has led to "the teaching of intolerance and national disunity."

Rev. W. M. Robertson, of Vancouver Metropolitan Tabernacle, who assisted in preparation of the brief, said "the teaching of intolerance and national disunity."

There are now some 10,000 children attending RC schools in B.C. Full cost of operating the schools is borne by Roman Catholic families, who also pay taxes for public schools.

Big 'O' To Be Used For Training Only

Status of HMCS Ontario, RCN Pacific Command cruiser, is being changed from an operation to an entirely training ship.

Much of her armament is being removed to provide extra space for training accommodation for officer-candidates in the HMCS Venture cadet training plan.

The cadets will board Ontario for their first training cruise early in January.

REMOVE GUNS

Changes include: removal of four four-inch gun mounts, leaving the ship with one four-inch mount; deactivating her six-inch guns, but leaving them aboard in a "state of preservation"; removal of all short range weapons with the exception of one Bofors.

In announcing the work to be done on Ontario, a navy spokesman pointed out her armament will be kept at HMC Dockyard, and that it is being removed in such a way it can be re-installed quickly. The ship can be restored to a fully operational cruiser on short notice, he said.

Armament removal is being carried out by dockyard workers. Ontario is also undergoing annual refit, and is at present in government graving dock for underwater refit. This contract has been awarded to Yarrows Ltd.

Compulsory Tests for Cars Meet Mayor's Opposition

Suggestion that a compulsory automobile testing station be established here brought strong opposition from Victoria's mayor today.

The suggestion, advanced to the police commission by the Automotive Maintenance Workers' Union (TLC) brought only criticism from the mayor. He said the project would not only cost the city money but would be costly to citizens as well.

"I don't believe in taking every cent a person has at the least excuse," the mayor said.

Commissioner Gordon Carter, on the other hand, suggested the idea had merit. He said Vancouver's auto testing station was "a paying proposition." Motorists there must have their cars inspected every six months. Inspection fee is $1.

Chief Blackstock sided with Commissioner Carter. He said a testing station would be of help to his department in getting off the roads old cars not properly equipped.

The suggestion was finally received and filed.

Q. For what purpose is the water tower at Craigdarroch, when was it built and what is its present use? J.H.B.

A. The concrete structure to which you refer, one of the landmarks of that part of the city, is the Laurel Lane water tower. It was built in 1908 to provide increased pressure in the water system in the high areas of the city. It is in use for that purpose now and has been since it was constructed.

Q. Re attached, in a recent issue of the Daily Times (a 2 1/2-line item at the bottom of a column of the kind known by newspaper men as fillers, which described the Suez Canal as "10 miles long"). ## GOSPEL MUST BE PRESENTED AS 'LOVE IN ACTION'

Too Much 'Spoken Christianity' Says India Churchman

Denominationalism is a "damnation" in India, the general secretary of the Church of North India told a meeting of 100 here Monday night.

Two in every 100 Indians are Christian, Dr. K. Y. Masih said, and of the two, one is a Roman Catholic and the other a member of one of the 151 Protestant sects.

"Christians in India must unite or perish," he declared. Speaking in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the tall young Indian churchman said missions in India have suffered from too much spoken Christianity and not enough

Christianity expressed action.

Taking for his text a line from the 107th Psalm, "Let the Redeemed of the Lord Say So," Dr. Masih said that the gospel must be presented in India and elsewhere in terms of "love in action." He cited the segregation problems in South Africa and

United States as instances of the failure of Christianity in countries where it had been the ethical basis of life for hundreds of years.

The great need of the church in India was not property or resources, although the people were very poor, but a sense of fellowship in working out world problems on a Christian basis, Dr. Masih concluded.

The meeting was conducted by Dr. Edgar Foreman of St. Andrew's, Dr. F. E. H. James of Metropolitan United Church introduced the speaker.

Cover Up Ugly Blemishes With Stars' Pet Formula

By PENNY SAVER

Complexions of TV and screen actresses are always so unblemished, so smooth and creamy in appearance, that it's no wonder we are curious about the "magic make-ups" they use. Well, one famous maker of cosmetics has let the cat out of the bag, so to speak, rewarding us women with his secret beauty aid that for years has been covering shadows, lines and blemishes of famous stars.

The new blemish-eraser comes in stick form, in various shades, to match exactly your skin tone. Apply it before using make-up. Right from the stick, as you would lipstick. Stroke it on lightly, and blend with the fingertips. . . don't. . . Feather-stroke with a gentle, patting motion.

Used correctly, this cream will seem to disappear into nothingness, taking the flaw with it. Now, go ahead and apply your favorite make-up and enjoy your new, flawless complexion!

Price per stick of the cover-up cream is $1.95.

Fantastique is the name of it . . . and fantastic is the only adjective to describe the new perfume from Paris, France! Created just a few months ago, this light, airy, tantalizing scent will set him in a whirl. He won't know what hit him!

It's the kind of perfume a girl likes to wear to a party . . . it suggests gaiety and charm . . . and it's here in Victoria, for you to buy at $3.

Fantastique is the same price, whether you buy it in the tiny, purse-size vial or the large, dressing-table size cologne bottle, with the pretty triangular-shaped glass stopper.

Also arrived from overseas is real, French castle soap. The glossy-haired salesgirl informed me that she uses it for shampooing her hair and that was the best advertisement she could give it . . . her hair literally sparkles! It is 72 per cent oil and sells at 23 cents a cake or 45 cents for two.

Eskimos Need Guidance In Adapting to Changes

Douglas Wilkinson, a man who has given up the comforts of the white man to live and work among Eskimos, spoke to a sleeping bag and a few personal items of clothing. Members of an Eskimo family adopted him as their son and he became one of them, so that he might fully understand their way of living.

The first film shown by Mr. Wilkinson was "Angotee," the story of an Eskimo boy and Eskimo family life on the West Coast of Hudson's Bay. Mr. Wilkinson pointed out that Eskimos grow up in isolated groups and thus the lives of Eskimos differ, depending upon where they live.

The second film was about one of the most northerly groups of Eskimos, and was entitled "Land of the Long Day." It illustrated methods of hunting and traveling.

Mr. Wilkinson, who has received a government appointment as northern service officer, plans to return to the Eskimos with his wife and young daughter, to help the people of the north in their search for a new way of life.

"We don't know the Eskimo well enough yet," concluded Mr. Wilkinson, "but when we do, we can guide him forward until he is a contributing member of our civilization."

WHY GROW OLD?

Take the Little Woman Dancing; She'll Like It

Take her dancing! Whoever she is: your wife, your sweetheart or your friend. It will be good for you and it will make her feel like a debutante. One reason why so many husbands are such poor dancers is because they take their wives dancing so seldom.

I don't know! After people leave early youth they are so likely to drop many of the activities which they enjoyed greatly and which they would still enjoy. It is partly a matter of just getting into a rut, or financial strain, or a pile of responsibilities!

Ballroom dancing is one form of exercise which you can enjoy at any age unless you have some special organic trouble which makes practically any exercise dangerous. The muscles are toned up and the joints oiled up and the spirit released in a youthifying way when you dance. Rhythmic movement to rhythmic music is a fundamental attribute of the human race, and always has been, as far back as we know. It is amazing how people get all tied up in knots when such a simple thing as an evening of dancing would give them a new viewpoint, and in some instances, would be actually revitalizing.

After the past days of Tubby Hubby dieting, there are many men who will feel much more like dancing than they did a little while ago. Show your new figure off on the ballroom floor! I will bet that a lot of you haven't danced for years, and would enjoy it. If may be a shock to the little woman, but she can take that sort of a shock very happily.

Here are tomorrow's menus for the Tubby Hubby diet:

BREAKFAST—Two poached or boiled eggs, two pieces of wholewheat toast, coffee.

LUNCH—One portion salmon or broiled fish with lemon juice, celery sticks, stewed carrots or other vegetable, one glass of buttermilk or skimmed milk, one piece of wholewheat bread, one baked potato, one-half grapefruit.

DINNER—Lean steak (any kind if lean), one cup of green beans, one cup of squash or broccoli or greens, one glass of skimmed milk or buttermilk, fruit cup (fresh fruit).

If you men who are reading this, or if the woman in your life is, and you haven't tried the reducing menus which I have been printing for men in this column, you may want to send for my Tubby Hubby diet booklet. If so, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

During the daily housekeeping rounds, take a soapy cloth along to wipe the children's fingermarks from the door knobs.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"It was a very frustrating experience," said the young woman I met on the street yesterday afternoon.

Only three weeks ago when I talked to her in the ballroom at Government House, where women captains and canvassers for the Community Chest were being briefed to undertake the rounds of the residential sections of the city, she was full of enthusiasm. Smiling and happy and firm in her belief that the women of Victoria had hearts as big as balloons and a sympathetic understanding of the needs of the many groups she would represent in the canvass.

"It should be easy to talk to the housewives I've got on my list," he said then. "They are all intelligent women and they know the good work being done in this city by these agencies."

Yesterday, however, it was a different story. The enthusiasm had worn thin. The smiles were replaced by a look of startled disbelief and disappointment. "I've learned very quickly that there are many women in Victoria who have not one spark of generosity in their make-ups," she told me, "and what is even worse, no sense of responsibility to anyone beyond themselves."

TV in Homes But No Money

Over a cup of tea, she completed the picture for me. It seemed she had been allotted a certain number of streets in a fairly new section of homes. "Not in a poor district," she said. "But in a district you and I would call fairly well heeled. Practically every one of the houses I entered was well furnished and had all the modern gadgets. Most of them had TV installed and were in the process of installing a set. No sign of penny-pinching anywhere."

But when it came to giving to the Community Chest, my friend ran into cold, hard indifference.

"One dollar was a BIG donation," she told me, "and in most cases it was fifty cents. As for pledging a certain amount each week, or giving a lump sum to cover such a pledge, I was dreaming when I believed such things were possible!"

Everyone had some sort of excuse for not giving more generously, but the one that was overworked the most was "My husband is giving our donation through his firm."

"If I got that once, I got it fifty times," is the way my friend put it. "In a few cases it was bona fide, I suppose, but in most places it was just the good old run-around." Another thing that amazed her was the number of times she had to call back to some places in order to find the woman of the house at home. "Morning, noon and night, some of them SEEMED to be out . . . and with their children playing around on the street, too. I went back as many as five times to certain homes . . . in several cases to be turned down in the end.

She sipped her tea slowly. "You'll hear the same story from a good many other canvassers," she said, "and when you do, it will be the ones who were in the so-called better districts. Talk to the canvassers who were sent to the poorer districts and nine times out of ten you'll hear stories of doing without and of planned budgeting in order that donations could be made.

In Three Blocks Only $50

"Sure, those donations were small . . . but do you know what I got in a section of three blocks of new homes with television sets and all the modern gadgets . . . $50." She shrugged her shoulders wearily. "I've certainly learned a lot in the last three weeks!"

Well, Madame Victoria, does this little story make you feel somewhat ashamed? Does your face turn a little red as you look at that television set and think of the lame excuse you gave the canvasser who knocked on your door? Does it make you think back to the day you stood very still in your kitchen and let the canvasser ring . . . and ring . . . and ring your doorbell . . . and finally go away empty-handed?

Officially the Community Chest drive closed last Saturday night but the canvassers will continue to work all this week. The office is open, too, in Spencerhouse, corner of Cook and Pembroke Streets. If you feel like checking the house-keeping budget (really checking it this time) and perhaps allocating a small amount each week to help others . . . drop in . . . there . . . or telephone. REMEMBER . . . YOU CAN STILL GIVE!

Dr. Peter Mar Aptly Describes UNRRA Relief Program in China

An eye-witness account of the work of UNRRA in China from nine months after VJ Day until November, 1947, when the many-sided supply program was virtually completed, was given by Dr. Peter Mar to members of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club at their Monday evening supper meeting.

Dr. Mar, Victoria born, had spent 20 years in China before he joined the health division of UNRRA to work with CNRRA's medical supplies division.

Making no attempt to gloss over the difficulties confronting UNRRA in those first days in China, when the needs for relief and rehabilitation were estimated at $2 billion, $530 million in United States money, Dr. Mar painted an appalling word picture of those early days of the relief program.

"At that time, medical supplies shipments were received mainly from surplus supplies in field hospitals in the Pacific areas. Lack of adequate inventories and the confused state in which such supplies reached China in those first days was frustrating and caused us keen disappointment," Dr. Mar said.

Inability to distribute supplies through lack of transportation facilities was also described by Dr. Mar and the policy of administration set down in those early days.

"This provided for relief to government institutions first and foremost and mission schools and universities did not qualify.

"It must be remembered," the speaker pointed out, "that UNRRA was in its infancy then and that both UNRRA and CNRRA were caught unprepared for the program by the sudden capitulation of the Japanese army, with the return to China of a territory greater than all the territory occupied by the Nazis at the height of their conquests and a population double that of North America.

"In spite of all the obstacles, the 19 months of UNRRA operation in China was of immeasurable benefit to both the recipients and its administrators.

"Had China not been made the pawn of power politics at Yalta, had the Nationalists not been made a laughing-stock of the nation and the whole world by the vacillating or rather lack of Far Eastern policy of her leading ally, China would not be in its present predicament. UNRRA would most likely not have had to fold up so soon and her contribution toward the relief and rehabilitation of China would have been more efficiently utilized to the betterment of a needy and hungry people."

Dr. Mar firmly believes, however, that the UNRRA-China venture has taught not only the Occidentals but also the Orientals how they could fit themselves to live together in peace and co-operation, side by side.

Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin presided at the head dinner table and seated with her were Dr. and Mrs. Mar; Dr. A. E. Chatwin, Dominion organizer for the United Nations and president of the local group; Miss Margaret Clay, international vice-president of BPW; Mrs. Bessie Smith, immediate past president of the Victoria Club; Mrs. Ruby Masters, first vice-president and program con-

Power Board Revenue Soars to New High

Revenue Tops $7 Million in Fiscal Year; Operating Profit Up 7% to $531,167

B.C. Power Commission revenues climbed 20 per cent in the 1953-54 fiscal year to a new high of $7,103,853, according to the annual report released today.

The report, covering operations of the crown corporation for the year ended last March 31, said the boost reflects the increased number of customers serviced, and the greater use of electricity.

Number of customers reached 52,773 up 8½ per cent. Gross revenue, which is up 45 per cent over the 1951-52 operation, represented a return of 11 per cent on the average investment in capital assets, as compared to 10.6 per cent in 1952-53, and 10 per cent in 1951-52.

The report said "this indication of developing productivity of the commission's assets was maintained despite net additions to plant in operation during the year of over $10,000,000."

War-Crime Leniency Scored by Pearkes

A full explanation for reductions in the sentences of two Japanese war criminals convicted for indictments at Hong Kong will be demanded in the House of Commons by Major General G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP, for Esquimalt-Saanich.

Commenting on a report from Ottawa that the two Japanese, originally sentenced to death, would have their life terms reduced to 15 and 20 years, Major-General Pearkes said he will demand "all the facts and reasons."

The prisoners are Col. Iseo Tokunaga, prison-camp commander at Hong Kong, and Capt. Shunkichi Saito. Their hanging sentences were commuted to life imprisonment in November, 1946.

"I am amazed to learn of the sentence reductions," said General Pearkes, "in view of the fact there are a large number of Canadians who suffered at Hong Kong and who still are inadequately provided for."

BREACH OF FAITH
The 900-member Hong Kong Veterans' Association will also battle the sentence reductions, Greater Victoria spokesman Lionel Speller wired headquarters in the east demanding action on "this breach of faith."

There are 32 Hong Kong veterans in the Victoria area. Speller said he was shocked at the report, and that he "thought they had been hanged long ago."

Mr. Speller said that 75 per cent of children born to veterans of the Hong Kong prison have inherited deformities as a result of their confinement; that one out of every 19 has gone blind, and that six are still in hospital.

Mr. Speller was captured in Hong Kong with other Canadian troops on Christmas Day, 1941. He was awarded the Military Medal for his part in the defense of Hong Kong, and spent the last six months of the war in a "punishment camp" for saboteurs.

The scientist, Dr. Werner von Braun, pioneer expert in German and American guided missiles, discussed the fascinating possibilities of space travel in a press conference which opened to the wailing of the city's air-raid sirens sounding their weekly test.

"It's all a matter of how hard we push it," von Braun said. "If we have the backing the Manhattan project had, it would be only a matter of a few years."

Once the space station is established as a stepping stone, he asserted, man could land on the moon in 15 to 20 years' time.

DESIGNED V2'S
Dr. von Braun, developer of the U.S. army's new long-range Redstone guided missile, was the designer of the German V2 rockets which battered English cities near the end of the Second World War.

Artist Claims New Money Like Rolled Oats Coupons

By TONY DICKASON

The artistic consciousness of hordes of people here and across Canada is writhing and frustrated by what is described as another Ottawa "bloop."

It's the new bills—paper money design and color.

Last year it was stamps, many people complained, which made the Queen look like a carnival gypsy.

People who can recognize red from green have been raising a clamor since the new bills, which appear as if they had been faded while washed in the pockets of old pants, hit national pocket-books a few weeks ago.

Head of the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria, Colin Graham, no mean authority on things beautiful, today raised his usually modulated voice several tones when describing his thoughts on the bills.

"They look," he said, "like Mexican lottery tickets or coupons out of bags of rolled oats."

He said the appearance of the bills smacked strongly of the 19th century conception of what official paper should look like.

His term: "Quaint."

The federal government's repeated mistakes in things artistic meant there was something radically haywire with Ottawa's whole idea of what constituted art, he said.

"It's a national disgrace. We are a laughing stock abroad."

It is not generally known exactly how the designs and colors on the new bills were arrived at, but it is more than possible bank head offices had a major paw in proceedings.

And, said Mr. Graham, bankers had never yet achieved recognition in left-bank endeavors.

"They probably had no idea that design of new bills was something for artists to consider."

There were brush and palette boys aplenty throughout Canada, he said, who, if consulted, could have done a worthwhile and publically-pleasing job.

Highway Safety Objective Of New Island Association

A new association, aimed at dealing with traffic problems on Vancouver Island, was formed Sunday at Port Alberni. Made up of representatives of five different traffic associations on the island, it will be called the Vancouver Island Traffic and Safety Council.

President of the new group is John Smyth of Port Alberni. Vice-President is James Swain of Victoria; secretary is R. G. Chamberlin of Duncan; and recording secretary is Donald McCool, Duncan.

Directors are John Squire, MLA, Port Alberni; Edward Ellis, Courtenay; Raymond Davis, Courtenay; and Harry Monahan, Victoria.

Nanaimo directors will be named at a later date. Also attending the meeting in the Port Alberni Council chambers were Robert Swanson, chief inspector of railways, Vancouver, and Cpl. Joseph Shepherd, RCMP, Colwood.

The council and represented associations, are working in co-operation with the RCMP and the Motor Vehicle Branch of the provincial government to improve traffic conditions and to emphasize safe driving on the island.

Representatives of the group will meet with Attorney-General Robert Bonner Wednesday to discuss traffic and seek aid from the government.

On Friday the Lower Vancouver Island Traffic and Safety Association, with headquarters in Victoria, will hold an open meeting at 8.15 p.m. at 715 Johnson Street.

Barbara Kelly Principal Boy In Pantomime

LONDON (CP)—Barbara Kelly has pulled the plum role from the London stage's Christmas pie.

The vivacious Vancouver star, who already has more than one finger in the theatre pastry, will play the lead in the 50th anniversary production of "Peter Pan." Britain's favorite "holi-day" pantomime. She is the first Canadian to get the prized part.

The pantomime, adapted from J. M. Barrie's classic story of children and fairies, was first produced in London's Duke of York's theatre in 1904 with Nina Boucicault playing "the boy who wouldn't grow up." Every year since, except for 1939 and 1940, it has been a must on the Christmas theatre program, as institutional as plum pudding and mistletoe.

MANY FAMOUS PLAYERS
Among the famous leading ladies who have played the role are Fay Compton, Edna Best, Gladys Cooper, Elsa Lanchester, Anna Neagle, Ann Todd, Glynis Johns, Phyllis Calvert and Margaret Lockwood.

A U.S. import, blonde Yolande Dorian, was set to play Peter last year but complications developed over a labor permit and British star Pat Kirkwood took the role.

Miss Kelly, wife of actor-comedian Bernard Braden, also of Vancouver, has fostered a large and enthusiastic following as a regular panel member of the television game, "What's My Line?" She has starred in several films, plays and radio programs in the five years she has been in Britain.

Following the modern tradition, she will have her blonde hair, now fashioned in a pouf-cut, cropped to boys' length for the show. It opens at the Scala Theatre, Dec. 23.

Driver Receives Warning of Jail

Two motorists were fined $50 each in Esquimalt court Monday after they pleaded guilty to driving while their licenses were under suspension.

Frank Parham, 1012 North Park, admitted a previous conviction for driving under suspension Oct. 18, and to dangerous driving May 8, when he was also convicted.

"If you come back to this court there will be no option of fine; you will be sent to jail," Magistrate H. C. Hall told him.

Melvin E. Hanson, 32 Peat Road, was also convicted of driving over 30 miles an hour in a restricted zone. He was fined $15 or seven days.

Dressing Room Marilyn's Home

She'll Go to Court Wednesday;
Hopes Some Day to Marry Again

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Marilyn Monroe goes to court to divorce Joe DiMaggio Wednesday, but she revealed today she's not sour on another marriage because "I still want a baby."

Hollywood's grade-A glamour girl won't say whether she'll tell all in court as to why her celebrated marriage with the sports figure broke up, or if she'll just go into the "he didn't like my spaghetti cooking" routine.

But in her first interview since she sent the baseball hero to the showers, Marilyn said she hopes some day to re-marry. "Of course, I'm not thinking about anything like that now," she said with a weary laugh.

"But I hope to marry again. I still want to have a baby. I'm still living at the studio in my dressing room," Marilyn said. "I haven't found a place to live yet. I don't know what I want, an apartment or a house, oh, just any place to live. I really don't know yet what I'll do."

The curvy blonde has been deluged with letters from fans, "some of them very understanding, and the rest—well, how can you explain to them what happened?"

204 Dead In Italian Floods

Heavy Damage
In Resort Towns

NAPLES (UP)—Disastrous flash floods boiled down from Italy's coastal mountains today on the famed tourist towns of Amalfi, Sorrento, Ravello and nearby villages, crumpling buildings, causing landslides and leaving a heavy toll of death and damage.

Tonight federal police headquarters here listed a total of 204 known dead and feared the total would rise still further as bulldozers reopened mud-choked roads to isolated villages. Incomplete reports listed more than 100 injured and upward of 500 homeless.

LINES CUT
Authorities said they feared the toll would rise when rescue workers are able to send in official figures by radio from the stricken area, now cut off from normal communication with the outside.

Landslides added to the toll of death and damage.

The floods, started by a cloudburst during the night, collapsed houses, washed out roads and bridges, and inundated the narrow strip of flat coastline where Gen. Mark W. Clark's American troops stormed ashore in the Second World War.

57 DEAD

Report brought here by refugees said up to 57 persons were dead in Salerno alone. The centre of the city and the entire beach area were reported under water.

Premier Mario Scelba ordered immediate emergency aid to the area. Naples firemen went to the scene to help with rescue operations.

Army units equipped with bulldozers were attempting to clear the blocked roads that cling to the seaside cliffs. Navy units put rescue crews and equipment ashore at points isolated from contact by land.

Missing C-47 Seen in Alps

NICE, France (UP)—United States air force officials conducting a search for a C-47 missing since Sunday with 21 airmen aboard today ordered paratroopers dropped on a mountain where wreckage has been spotted.

Six paratroopers were scheduled to descend on Mount L'Audon, 40 miles north of Nice, after a rescue plane radioed it spotted the wreckage high on the slopes of the Alpine peak.

About 21 American aircraft roamed above the snow-capped Alps along with French navy and air force planes in a "maximum effort" search for the C-47, missing on a flight from Italy to England.

There were constant reports of wreckage sightings in France's "aircraft graveyard" which confused and hampered the search.

Rail Hearings Open Before Justice Sloan

MONTREAL (CP)—Arbitration proceedings in the lengthy contract dispute between Canadian railways and their 145,000 non-operating employees opened here today under chairmanship of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia.

Chief Justice Sloan was named by the federal government to arbitrate the dispute after the workers—those who do not actually run trains—authorized their 14 unions to call a strike if their demands for fringe benefits were not met.

The railways and the union agreed Aug. 18 to submit their differences to arbitration. The arbitrator's findings will be binding.

The workers are asking for

Canoeist Hopes to Reach Alaska In Outboard Powered Washtub

EDMONDS, Wash. (UP)—Fifty-year-old Roy Bergo sets sail for Alaska today in an oval-shaped washtub powered by an outboard motor.

The tub, made of galvanized iron, was designed for use as a baby's bathtub. It is 18 inches wide, 11 inches deep and 36 inches long. His outboard motor is rated at two horsepower.

IF YOU CAN'T COUNT UP TO FIVE—DROP DEAD

CINCINNATI (AP)—Here's an A-bomb or H-bomb survival tip:

If you see or sense a sudden brilliant or blinding flash of light—duck and count slowly to five.

If you reach five, you have survived. Then take stock. If you have the customary number of fingers, legs and other body parts, if you can hear, and aren't bleeding badly anywhere or bleeding from the nose or ears, you probably have nothing to worry about.

It will mean you haven't been hit at all, or significantly, by the three killers in thermonuclear weapons. The three are radiation, heat or fire, and the blast wave.

Counting off the five seconds will mean you were at least a mile from the heart of the atomic bomb. It takes five seconds for the sound or blast waves to travel a mile. And at a mile distance, you probably won't get any significant amount of radiation.

This rough formula was given today by Col. Harvey C. Slocum at the annual meeting of the American Society of Anaesthesiologists.

Frobisher Applies for License

By TOM GOULD

Two legal steps were taken in the last 24 hours to further the progress of multi-million dollar industrial developments in British Columbia.

Celgar Development Ltd. beat its October 27 deadline in filing working plans for a $65,000,000 forest development at Castlegar, on Arrow Lakes.

The company presented its plan to Lands Minister R. E. Sommers on Monday. Two officials of the firm still are in Victoria. Celgar was approved a huge forest management license in October, 1952, but final award had been held up pending submission of the working plans.

TIME NEEDED

Mr. Sommers said the government would require "a month or two" to assess the plan and arrive at a decision.

The West Kootenay CCF organization has asked the government to delay confirmation of Celgar's forest management license until construction of a pulp mill is assured. Details of the working plans are not available.

Meanwhile, another step toward establishment of a giant hydro-electric-metallurgical development in northern B.C. by the Frobisher-Ventures group of companies was taken at Atlin.

The Atlin water recorder said Frobisher filed application for all water rights involved in the proposal.

WRECKING CREW ERROR RAZES BRITISH CHURCH

LONDON (AP)—A high British churchman told Monday how a wrecking crew pulled down a historic London church through error.

"It's all a ghastly mistake," said Archdeacon M. M. Hodgins.

Ninety-five-year-old St. Paul's church in St. John's Wood was damaged during an air raid. Plans were afoot to repair it when a gang of workers appeared in the neighborhood.

The archdeacon said they had been sent to demolish a building on the same street as the church, but somehow they started in on the wrong structure.

600 London Dockers Quit Crippling Strike

Union Leaders Hurry to Exploit
First Break in Wildcat Tie-Up

LONDON (CP)—Union leaders trying to herd thousands of wild-cat strikers back to work at eight paralyzed British ports today claimed their first significant success.

They announced that 600 men at a London dock voted to return to work Wednesday—first time any dockmen outside the permanent workers had shown any signs of returning. Meantime, some of the permanent stevedores began unloading seven Christmas food ships bearing cargoes of wine, figs, sardines and nuts.

DUE WEDNESDAY

At the same time, Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton told the House of Commons that a three-man court of inquiry he appointed to investigate the dispute had submitted an interim report which he hoped to make available late on Wednesday.

Arthur Deakin, head of the giant Transport and General Workers Union, moved quickly to exploit the first crack in the strike front. He sent squads of union officers hurrying to dock gates to urge the men to "go back to work and get on with the job."

Transport union officials have branded the strike unofficial and charged Communist elements with egging the men on. The stevedores' union officially supported the walkout.

MAY PAY OFF

Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet has refrained thus far from sending in troops to unload ships in the hope that the strike will collapse soon.

There were these signs that the government's gamble might be paying off.

1. Half of the 2,000 "permanent" dockers in London, who are paid on a weekly instead of a daily basis went back to work. More than 25,000 men remained out in London, however.

2. At Liverpool 84 men went back to the docks this morning continuing a slow return that began Monday. About 12,000 men are still out at Liverpool.

3. Colder weather and a shortage of pocket-money were making strikers restless at the various ports.

Some Midland industrial plants began laying off workers and putting others on short time because they were unable to get their products shipped.

Chief issue in the work stoppage is a demand by the dockers to put overtime work on a voluntary basis. Employers maintain that the dependence of operations on tides makes it necessary that overtime be compulsory.

Over Counter Liquor Sales Wednesday

The Humbolt Street liquor store will have across-the-counter service starting Wednesday, it was learned today.

It will be the first such service in Victoria, though Vancouver has had counter sales for several months.

It was part of the LCB "speed-up" policy a board spokesman said.

It is believed that if the new policy is found to work effectively at the Humbolt Street store, it may be started in Victoria's other two LCB outlets on Johnson Street and in Esquimalt.

Big Four Talks Vetoed By Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today rejected a Russian proposal for Big Four talks next month on German unification.

He told the House of Commons this was not the moment to enter into such talks with the Russians while Western parliaments still have to ratify the London and Paris agreements calling for a rearmament and sovereign West Germany.

He made the statement in answer to questioning by left-wing Labor member Aneurin Bevan.
